

Harriman Makes Fire Appeal in Span Talk

Wicks Hopes Bridge Is Strong Area Bond

Notes How Some Scoffed at Plan

Says Span Is Reminder Perseverance Prevails, Praises Hatfield for Help

Former Senator Arthur H. Wicks of the 34th Senatorial District, who is now vacationing in Florida, today expressed the hope, in a message prepared for dedication ceremonies of the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge, that the span will provide a bond of commerce and friendship between Ulster and Dutchess counties.

The senator's message was to be delivered by Federal Judge John M. Cashin of the Southern District, former Ulster county judge.

Free Ballot In Colombia Is Promised

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Bogota, Colombia, May 10 (AP)—Colombia's new military junta promised last night to bring order to the country, restore political and press freedom and step down next year in favor of an elected civilian government.

Holiday Atmosphere

Bogota took on a holiday atmosphere as Colombians celebrated the collapse of Gustavo Rojas Pinilla's four-year dictatorship.

Leaders of the Liberals and Conservatives—the country's two traditional political parties, whose opposition bolstered the strikes and demonstrations that brought down Rojas—announced they supported interim rule by the junta. They appealed by radio last night for prudence, calmness and return to normalcy.

141 Known Dead

Relaxation of censorship permitted a tally of those killed in the past week of unrest in Colombia. There were at least 141 reported dead—including 30 caught in a stampede when troops tried to clear joyous crowds from Bogota's Plaza Bolivar after Rojas resigned the presidency yesterday.

The newspaper Intermedio said police fired on another crowd celebrating Rojas' fall at Medellin, killing nine persons. An estimated 100 were killed during the week in Cali, Colombia's fourth largest city, many by police bullets. Tear gas police used to try to quell anti-Rojas demonstrators killed two youths in Bogota last Sunday.

Going Into Exile

Rojas, 56-year-old former army chief who seized power in a bloodless coup in June 1953, was reported going into exile. A plane was readied last night, reportedly to take him to Miami. Troops, tanks and armored cars guarding the airport barred reporters. There was no announcement that the plane had left.

Rojas, 56-year-old former army chief who seized power in a bloodless coup in June 1953, went into exile.

He landed at Kingston Jamaica, this morning in a plane of Avianca, a leading Colombian airline. He was en route to Bermuda, where he will stay for some time. He refused to talk with reporters. With him were his wife, two sons and their wives, his daughter and her husband and two grandchildren.

Departure Guarded

Troops, tanks and armored cars guarded his departure from the airport here.

12 Churches Will Observe Organists' Sunday in City

Choirs and organists from 12 Protestant churches will assemble here tomorrow to observe National Guild of Organists Sunday under the sponsorship of the Central Hudson Valley Chapter of AG of O.

This year the Old Dutch, up-town, is host for the program scheduled for 4 p. m. Last year the annual event, May 12, was held in Poughkeepsie.

Choirs participating will include the combined senior choirs, boys' and girls' choir of the Old Dutch Church and the combined high school choirs from the following churches:

Kingston—First Baptist Church, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, and St. James Methodist Church.

Poughkeepsie—First Baptist Church, First Congregational Church, First Presbyterian Church and Washington Street Methodist Church.

Beacon—First Methodist Church.

Fishkill—Methodist Church.

Pine Plains—Methodist Church.

Salt Point—Westminster Presbyterian Church.

All the choirs will be under the direction of Mrs. Willard A. Burke, minister of music at the Old Dutch Church here.

List of Selections

Choir selections that will be sung:

"Jesus, Tender Shepherd" by Savage—boys' and girls' choir of the Old Dutch Church.

"Surely the Lord Is in This Place" by Coke-Jephcott; "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Brahms—combined senior choirs.

Runaway Auto Kills 2 Women

Binghamton, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—A runaway automobile struck four women on the grounds of Binghamton State Hospital yesterday, killing two and injuring the others.

Stacy Armlin, 60, of Great Bend, Pa., was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The dead, both patients, were Irene Lennon, 67, of the Afton area, and Emily Allen, 56, of the New York city area. The hospital declined to give more specific addresses.

The hospital identified the injured women as Bertha Loynd and Eloise Smith, both from the New York city area. Miss Smith returned to her work in the hospital dining room after treatment for minor injuries.

Woman Is Killed in Troy Storm

Troy, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—A young mother who was expecting her fourth child was injured fatally last night when a tree limb fell on an automobile during a windstorm.

Her husband and three children escaped with abrasions.

Mrs. Theresa Nichols, 31, of Rensselaer, died in St. Mary's Hospital of a punctured liver about 15 minutes after she had been admitted. She was an operator for the New York Telephone Co.

Police said the limb smashed the windshield of the car. It was not determined whether Mrs. Nichols was struck by the limb or was injured by the sudden halt of the car.

The woman's husband, John, 33; a son, John Jr., 14; and a daughter, Rosemary, 12, were released from the hospital after treatment.

Another son, David, 10, was held at the hospital for X-rays. His condition was reported good. The accident occurred in the northeastern section of Troy.

Market Hits New Record for Year

New York, May 11 (AP)—Long-term prospects for the nation's business seemed brighter than ever this week, even as the short-term picture clouded.

For many businessmen it was easier to plan 10 years ahead than to guess what would happen next month.

The stock market, apparently impressed by the rosy hue of long-range business forecasts, boiled up to a new 1957 high.

Major Uncertainties

Predictions for the near-term, however, were somewhat on the pessimistic side.

Among major uncertainties here and now were trends in auto and appliance sales. Home construction was another question mark. There was new evidence, too, of softening demand for such key commodities as steel, copper, zinc, lead, paperboard, coal and oil.

The possibility of at least a modest pickup in auto sales was indicated by the latest production totals from Detroit: Plymouth scheduled Saturday overtime; Ford added a second shift at its Louisville plant; Chevrolet pushed its passenger car output beyond the 30,000 mark.

U. S. factories were expected to roll out 126,000 spanking new cars—3½ per cent more than they produced the week before and 20 per cent more than in the like week last year. The only question was: Would dealers be able to sell them?

Geared for Slowdown

The steel industry geared itself this week for the usual summer slowdown. United States Steel Corp. said it would shut down a bar mill and sintering plant at its Fairless Works in Morrisville, Pa., for a two-week overhaul later this month. Some 300 workers at the two plants will get vacations with pay.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. closed down three open hearth furnaces at Lackawanna, N. Y., citing a decline in demand for sheet steel, the kind used chiefly by the auto makers.

Roger M. Blough, U. S. Steel's board chairman, told stockholders that, although demand for some steel products is falling, over-all demand is "still very strong."

Wicks' Foresight Is Praised by Hatfield

In his address for the formal dedication of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge today, Senator Ernest I. Hatfield went back to its first conception and lauded former Senator Arthur H. Wicks for his persistence in pressing for its construction.

The Republican legislator from Dutchess county referred to his one-time colleague in Albany as "an ardent worker for all the people in his district and a man who had great vision for the future development of the Hudson valley area."

Senator Wicks, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, retired last year from 30 years in the State Senate.

The two collaborated on legislation for the bridge and concentrated on the project which is a reality after 13 long hard years of planning and building. "But it was well worth waiting for," Senator Hatfield declared.

His Cooperation Vital

Senator Hatfield, who represented Dutchess county in the State Assembly during Senator Wicks' strong drive for the bridge modestly referred to "my small part in promotion of this project," but Senator Wicks in a prepared speech stressed that his cooperation was vital and greatly appreciated.

"I am very happy to see the rapid expansion of our communities on both sides of the river, which has been brought about by the completion of this bridge," Senator Hatfield said.

Started in 1944

In 1944, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, who was an ardent worker for all the people in his district and a man who had great vision for the future development of the Hudson Valley Area, sponsored legislation in the Senate which would appropriate fifty thousand dollars to the Public Works Department for plans, survey and selection of a site for a highway bridge over the Hudson river between Kingston and Rhinecliff. That bill was vetoed.

Two similar bills were passed by the Senate and the Assembly in 1946, which provided for the construction of the bridge and for the issuance of bonds, not exceeding the sum of eight million dollars. Both these bills were sponsored by Senator Wicks and myself, and they were vetoed by the governor.

Bill Is Signed

In 1947, Senator Wicks' persistence was rewarded in that his Senate bill, providing for the construction of the Kingston bridge, in the discretion of the Bridge Authority such a bridge would be in the public interest, was passed and was signed by the Governor. This bill also allowed the Authority to issue bonds not exceeding the sum of eight million dollars and stated that any bridge must be built within five miles of the City of Kingston.

The Bridge Authority contacted that year Dr. D. B. Steinman and he presented shortly thereafter plans for a

Important Span

Ernest M. Heppner, Ulster county member of the Bridge Authority, noted that when the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and the Thruway Bridge at Castleton are completed there will be a bridge crossing the Hudson river approximately each 20 miles from Albany to New York city.

He said the Kingston-Rhinecliff span constitutes one of the four important bridges crossing the river, which are operated by the Authority. The other three are the Bear Mountain, Mid-Hudson and Rip Van Winkle Bridges, he said.

Mr. Heppner said the application for approval and design of the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Would Honor Heroes

He also urged that the way be established to grant free passage on the bridge to all holders (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Indians from Canada and upper New York state practically all ironworkers, helped build the bridge. One lost his life, when he fell from the span.

As a humble layman, I would like to advance the suggestion that the first horse to cross (the bridge) should be in charge of an American Indian," Mr. Snyder said.

Suggests Indian on Horse

"Horsepower was a great deal safer when only the horses had it. To dramatize the change in traffic and to indicate the fact that skillful Indians helped in constructing this aid to transportation, I hope the first horse to cross will transport an Indian. The names of the rider and the horse should be on post cards and become something of a tradition."

Forest Ban Cited Very Important

Governor Appeals for Public Patience With Closing Order in Dire Emergency

Governor Averell Harriman today praised the value of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge at a formal dedication ceremony and, noting its two-county area is still affected by the forest ban, urged "continued public patience" during the emergency.

The Governor arrived beneath overcast skies a short time after he had lifted the ban on public use of forests in all but some southern counties.

Still under ban are the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Sullivan, Orange, Rockland, Putnam, Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk.

Mr. Harriman, in a speech prepared for delivery at the formal dedication of the span, appealed for continued "public patience and observance" of his orders closing the woodlands because of the forest fire danger.

Danger Still Exists

He said that the fire danger still exists even though rains covered most of the state. "The drought went very deep—six inches or more—and it requires a good soaking rain to remove the danger entirely," Harriman said.

Overnight rain forced him to alter remarks prepared earlier for the dedication of the almost $19,000,000 span across the Hudson river.

He noted that he wore ski boots and was en route to Belleayre Ski Center Feb. 2 when he participated in the temporary opening of the bridge.

Sorry for Fishermen

"I'm sorry this afternoon we can't all go fishing," he said. More than 1,000 fires have burned an estimated 15,000 acres of valuable timber during the month-long drought, the Associated Press reported.

The Conservation Department said only five new fires, all small, were reported yesterday in the state.

"I am as anxious as anyone to rescind these orders, as I know how much it is spoiling the fun of many people," the governor said.

Must Await Soaking Rains

"I will do so as soon as it is safe, but the orders must be continued until we have good soaking rains."

"Public response to the closing of woodlands and open areas has been almost universally good, and I am sure that this will continue."

"We must recognize that even heavy showers will not remove the hazard. We must wait for soaking rain. In the 30 days there have been 1,026 fires, burning over 14,085 acres in every fire district of the state. All the fires are now out, or under control and this is due to the tremendous efforts of all of the Conservation Department personnel, the 4,000 fire wardens, the great many local volunteers and in many cases, volunteer firemen and Civil Defense units."

Appreciates Cooperation

"The press, radio and television have helped, too, in alerting the public to the hazardous conditions."

Mr. Harriman said he was gratified to learn that since the temporary opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, the traffic on the other three bridges (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Public to Get Report

In telegrams to Heck and Mahoney, Harriman said state law required the investigation commissioner to report to the governor. He said the report would be released to the public.

Lanza was sentenced in 1943 to serve 7½ to 15 years for running a multi-million dollar extortion racket at the fish market. He was released on parole in 1950 after serving about half his term but was returned to Sing Sing last month by order of the state parole board. He is awaiting a hearing on how much more time he must serve.

In New York city yesterday, the Appellate Division reserved decision on whether the watchdog committee can use tape recordings of Lanza's jail talks with his lawyer. The committee is appealing a state Supreme Court ban on use of the recordings.

Gas Truck Burns, Plane Overshoots Area Airport

A tanker owned by Amos Post, Inc., Catskill, was destroyed Friday afternoon when it overturned near that village and caught fire, a four-passenger plane crashed 50 feet from a home in Accord, a teen-age youth was arrested for the alleged theft of three automobiles in an area spree March 18 and two persons were injured when the car in which they were riding went out of control on a curve in the village of Ghent across the river.

The pilot and a passenger in the Sesna 182 miraculously escaped injury and the driver of the gasoline tanker suffered only minor abrasions and bruises.

Catskill state police reported that a tractor-trailer gasoline truck owned by Amos Post, Inc., was proceeding south on Route 9W about two miles south of Catskill when it ran off the right side of the highway, struck a telephone pole and overturned on the road.

The gasoline load was ignited, completely destroying the tanker and catching the woods on both sides of the highway.

Clarence Smith, 27, driver of the truck, escaped with minor abrasions and bruises, according to Troopers W. G. Wolfe, R. E. Setzer and Lt. L. J. Stoneham of the Catskill state police.

Traffic on Route 9W was delayed for about five hours as the Catskill Fire Department battled the fire. Also present was equipment provided by the State Conservation Department.

The telephone trunkline from Buffalo to New York city was knocked out for some hours, it was reported.

Reformed Church To Hear Authority On Near East

DR. JOHN BADEAU

President of the Near East Foundation, the Rev. Dr. John S. Badeau, will preach the sermon Sunday, Mother's Day, at the 11 a.m. worship service in Fair Street Reformed Church. Dr. Badeau assumed his duties as president of the foundation, one of the oldest and best known philanthropic service organizations in the United States, July 1, 1953, having just resigned as president of the American University at Cairo, Egypt.

Held Many Posts
The American University at Cairo called Dr. Badeau to its staff in 1936 when he was appointed associate professor of Philosophy and Religion. In 1938 he became dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, a post that brought him into close contact with many of the Arab countries from which the University students were drawn.

Dr. Badeau's residence in the Near East has covered most of the important political events of recent years. In 1932 he saw the ending of the British Mandate in Iraq, and the Assyrian Revolt which followed it. He was present in Egypt in 1936 when King Farouk came to the throne and the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty was signed; he saw this same treaty denounced in 1951, and the knowledge of Near Eastern affairs is personal, comprehensive and timely.

Author and Lecturer
As an author and lecturer, Dr. Badeau is a widely known, able and sympathetic interpreter of the Near East. He wrote two of the Foreign Policy Association's Headline Books—"East and West of Suez" (1942) and "Emergence of Modern Egypt" (1953). He has lectured extensively for the Foreign Policy Association, various Councils on World Affairs, universities, churches and before such business groups as the Cosmopolitan Club of San Francisco, the Sunday Breakfast Club of Philadelphia, the Economic Club of Detroit, and New York's Town Hall.

Dr. Badeau comes from French Huguenot and Dutch stock, and was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1888. His education was at Union College, Rutgers University, New Brunswick Seminary, Union Theological Seminary, and Columbia University. He is an ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church.

Cooperating with Station WKNY, the Kingston Area Ministerial Association sponsors the following programs of Christian faith and life for broadcasting during the coming week: Sunday, 10:45 a.m., "Let There Be Light," a transcription production of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

APRON STRINGS

We have all heard it said of some person adult in years but immature in judgment—"He (or she) is still tied to his mother's apron strings." The figure is used in the derogatory sense to indicate the lack of creative independence which ought to develop in the normal process of growing up. Sometimes the absence of this independence is due to a mother's lack of wisdom in the rearing of her children in that she deliberately ties the apron string too tight. And sometimes it is due to an innate inadequacy on the part of the offspring. When it happens, for whatever reason, it is always a terrible tragedy. For one eternal responsibility of homes is to develop a "psychic adequacy" in those who grow up in them.

But there is another sense in which the truest independence and the noblest flowering of personality come as a result of never getting untied from those apron strings. While growing up means to get out on our own, making decisions by ourselves, yet it never ought to mean that we declare our independence from the great Christian ideals and principles which a true mother seeks to instill into the hearts and minds of her children. There is a very real sense in which we never become untied from our mother's apron string. "Conscience," as someone has defined it, "is what your mother taught you before you were six years old." The great Lincoln was glad to recognize the fact that he never declared his independence from his mother's apron string. "All that I am or ever hope to be," he said, "I owe to my angel mother."

A little boy who had just learned to walk was playing in the kitchen where his mother was working. She tied her apron string around his little wrist so that he could pull himself up when he fell. When he grew a little older he begged his mother to untie it. She reminded him that he still needed it because he was not sure on his feet. After many days he was tall enough to look out of the window. He saw the beauty of the world and it beckoned to him. Tugging at the apron string he snapped it and ran away laughing as he said to himself: "I didn't know mother's apron string was so weak." He wandered through fields and forests. The mountains in the distance lured him; and he made toward them. Finally, foot-sore and weary, he came to the edge of a cliff. He slipped and, as he was falling over the brink he felt a tug at his waist and discovered that it was his mother's apron string still tied around his body. He pulled himself back upon the rock with it, and as he stood there pondering the miracle that had saved him, he said to himself: "I didn't know mother's apron string was so strong."

The strongest cables in this world are not made of steel. They are made of love. Rudyard Kipling was really setting forth the tensile strength of apron strings when he wrote: "Mother o' mother, O mother o' mine! I know whose love would follow me still. Mother o' mother, O mother o' mine! If I were drowned in the deepest sea, Mother o' mother, O mother o' mine! I know whose tears would come down to me. Mother o' mother, O mother o' mine! If I were damned by body and soul, I know whose prayers would make me whole. Mother o' mother, O mother o' mine!"

Katrine Gospel Hours Scheduled

The Family Gospel Hour service will be held Sunday in the Lake Katrine Grange Hall, located just north of Kingston at 6 p.m.

The pianist will be Gilbert Cicio. There will be trumpet solo by Ron Wirth. Joe and Lorraine Loerzel will sing "Hiding in Thee." Mrs. Loerzel will sing "When I Met My Saviour."

None Injured In Trailer, Car Mishap Friday

Police reported no one was injured Friday evening when a tractor-trailer was in collision with a car at East Chester street and Hasbrouck avenue.

A report at 7:50 p. m. said a 1956 tractor, owned by J. M. Griffin, of Auburndale, Fla., hauling a trailer, owned by Frank Daniels of Haines City, Fla., and operated by Monroe Brown, 28, of Cobbtown, Ga., was headed west on East Chester street, approaching the intersection of Hasbrouck avenue.

Officers Everett Emmick and William Snyder said Brown told them the red light changed and a car, owned by James C. Wrinn of 147 Clinton avenue, operated by Carl B. Gille, 17, of 292 East Chester street, stopped ahead of him and he applied his brakes.

Brown told the officers the tractor-trailer started to skid and he pulled to the right to avoid striking the car, continued over the curb and struck a street sign and went over the sidewalk onto the property of William Scaffidi, of 328 Hasbrouck avenue. The report said six feet of flagstone was damaged.

The Wrinn car was damaged on the right rear fender, tail-light and sustained possible hidden damages, the report said, while there was no visible damage to the tractor-trailer.

Dr. Kenneth Alexander, pastor of St. James Methodist Church officiated. Many called at the funeral home and many floral tributes were received. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Alexander conducted the committal service.

John Carlson

John Carlson, 93, died at his residence at Atwood Friday. The funeral will be held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street, Sunday at 5 p. m. Burial will be Monday in George Washington Memorial Park Cemetery, Paramus, N. J. Surviving are two sons, Arthur Carlson of Miami Springs, Fla. and Carl Carlson of Pompton Lakes, N. J.; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Becker of New York city; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Mr. Carlson was a retired bricklayer.

Joseph A. Davis

Joseph Arthur Davis, 45, of 20 Ora place, died in this city Friday night. He was a life-long resident of Kingston and a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Surviving is his wife, Rosalie Miller Davis; two daughters, Nancy and Diana Davis; one brother, Donald L. Davis; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Chase, all of this city. Friends may call at the late Connor Funeral Home, Inc., 256 Fair street, Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m., where funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Grace W. Beauchamp

Mrs. Grace Wright Beauchamp of 7 Wiltwyck avenue died Friday in Kingston following a short illness. She was the daughter of the late Edward and Ella Meyer Wright. She is survived by her husband, Richard Beauchamp; a son, Arthur Beauchamp and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Ransom, Hurley. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of Old Dutch Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday between 3 and 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Nellie Hobson

Nellie Hobson, 79, of Ellenville, died at Veteran's Memorial Hospital in Ellenville May 9. She had been a resident of Ellenville for over 50 years. She was the wife of the late Ellen S. Prentice Hobson and the late Hugh P. Hobson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church of Ellenville. She was born in England in 1877. She was a music teacher and conducted her own private music school in Ellenville. Miss Hobson was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church Parish Aid Society and the Ulster County Historical Society. She is survived by a nephew, Hugh L. Hobson of Astoria, L. I. and two grandnieces, Elizabeth and Ellen Hobson of Astoria, L. I. Funeral will be held at H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, 182 Canal street, Ellenville Monday at 11 a. m. Friends may call any time from Saturday evening. Burial will be in Fantine-kill Cemetery in Ellenville.

Mrs. Anna E. G. Thompson

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Gage Thompson of 55 Elmendorf street died suddenly Friday at her home. She was born in Glasgow the daughter of the late Felix and Rose Suschinsky Gage. Mrs. Thompson was a member of St. Joseph's Church. She is survived by two sons, M. Sgt. William E. Thompson, U. S. Marine Corps, stationed in Washington, D. C.; John J. Thompson of Kingston; a daughter, Helen, of Kingston; son, Los Angeles, Calif., two sisters, Mrs. Leslie Shultis, Saugerties and Mrs. Albert C. Hutton Sr., Kingston. Nine grandchildren also survive. Her husband, William E. Thompson, died some years ago. The funeral will be held Tuesday at 9 a. m. at Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, thence to St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered at 9:30 a. m. for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home between 3 and 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Ike, Monty at Farm

Gettysburg, Pa., May 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his World War 2 comrade, Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, flew here today for a long weekend at the President's farm. One of the things they plan to do is to rehash the strategy of the historic battle of Gettysburg. The sky was leaden and a drop or two of rain was falling as a twin-engineered air force plane brought the two of them into Gettysburg Airport. They climbed into a White House limousine and drove the four miles to the President's estate on the edge of the battlefield.

Pays $15 Fine

Robert De Santis, 25, of 129 Williams street, Catskill, who was arrested Friday afternoon on a speeding charge by officer Guernsey, was fined $15 in City Court today.

Acclaim Given

was approved by the Secretary of the Army on April 22.

"The army approval of the bridge constitutes the last legal step required before its construction can begin, as the approvals required under the Public Works Law were given in 1955," Mr. Heppner said.

1962 Is Goal

"If it is possible for the Authority to obtain the necessary additional moneys so as to provide for the construction of this bridge, it is expected that the structure could be built and ready to serve traffic in 1962."

The Thruway Bridge at Castleton is now under construction, he said.

He noted the convenience provided by the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and praised its commercial and artistic value in that "it provides a scenic splendor unsurpassed anywhere."

Mr. Heppner expressed his appreciation to Governor Harriman for participating in the formal dedication ceremony.

Tribute to Many

"The finished bridge is a tribute to the industry and the ability of a fine group of engineers, architects, contractors and the various labor unions connected with its construction," he said.

For the design and engineering of the bridge, Mr. Heppner thanked Dr. D. B. Steinman and his associates, Walter Joyce and Milton Elbow.

He also acknowledged the contributions made to its construction by the following:

Merritt Chapman and Scott, abutments and piers; Harris Structural Steel Co., steel work; Port Chester Electrical Co., bridge wiring.

Mr. Heppner said, "This group of men that I am now going to mention deserve much more credit than any of us could give them. If you could see these men going about their dangerous jobs each day with all their skill and courage... you would realize that we are at a loss to find words that would express our appreciation."

Unions Singled Out

He referred to the following: International Association of Bridge Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers; Electrical Workers Union; Laborers Union Local 17; Painters Union; Teamsters Union 445; Oilers Union; Plumbers and Gasfitters Union; International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 825; Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters and Bricklayers Union.

He also acknowledged the work of Harry Halverson and his associates, John McCollough and Frank Race, who designed the maintenance and garage buildings, office building, toll booths and the plaza; Larsen and Johansen, of Slope Ridge, who had the contract to build the office, maintenance and garage buildings and toll booths; C. B. Strain, general contractor in these buildings; Joseph O'Connor, electrical work, and Greenwald Supon, air conditioning.

Mr. Heppner thanked Superintendent of Public Works John W. Johnson and staff including Thomas F. Fitzgerald, chief engineer; Kurt Rauer, district engineer and John Miara.

He also expressed his appreciation to the Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, Color Guard under the direction of John Ray Mayone, and to his associates on the Authority.

Two Years of Effort

The committee in charge of the entire dedication program was organized nearly two years ago by interested citizens from the city of the Hudson river. They worked closely with the Bridge Authority in making plans for today's dedication.

The complete personnel of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge Dedication Committee is as follows:

George L. Berry, Kingston; James H. Betts, Kingston; William Bieber, Kingston; Percy Bush, co-chairman, Kingston; Lester Butler, Rhinecliff; Ezra Cookingsham, Red Hook; Frederick K. Ertel, Kingston; Silas Frazer, Rhinebeck; A. Chester Haen, co-chairman, Rhinebeck; Oakleigh Hamm, treasurer, Red Hook; the Rev. Paul E. Henry, Red Hook; Albert Kurtz, secretary, Kingston; Arthur London, Saugerties; Maynard Mizel, Kingston; Norman Reamer, Saugerties; Thomas Reynolds, Saugerties; Lloyd Rockefeller, Red Hook; Kenneth Stewart, Rhinebeck; Carl Stockenberg, Red Hook; Jacob H. Strong Jr., Rhinebeck and Clarence Traver, Rhinebeck.

Highland

Highland, May 11—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Needham, Maple avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Joan Irene Needham to Donald Edward Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, Poughkeepsie. Miss Needham is a graduate of Highland Central School and is employed at IBM, Poughkeepsie.

The Rev. W. Stewart MacColl preaches his farewell sermon in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and a few days later with Mrs. MacColl, daughter and son, leave for his new parish in Newark, N. J.

A testimonial dinner is scheduled May 16 for the Rev. Joseph Flannigan, who for four years was pastor of St. Augustine's Church before being transferred to New York. The event is held at Hotel DiPrima with Frank Mandy in charge of arrangements.

The members of the Holy Name Society meet Sunday at 7 o'clock for Mass before a Communion breakfast at Hotel DiPrima. Arrangements were made by Philip Gislano and William Palladino.

New officers of the Chamber of Commerce will be inducted at a dinner Saturday, May 25, at Hotel DiPrima. Frank Mandy is chairman of arrangements.

Tulip Day Takes Over Capital City

Albany, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—

This old Dutch city blossomed into pageantry today with its seventh annual Tulip Festival. Gay flowers, colorful costumes and a beautiful tulip queen attracted thousands of visitors.

The climax of the day's ceremonies was the coronation of the queen on the steps of the state capitol. She was chosen yesterday in secret from among 11 finalists and was to be announced today.

About 90,000 tulips, brought to full bloom by a month of sunny weather, made Albany's Washington Park a sea of color. Cool and cloudy weather was forecast for today.

City gardeners had been somewhat nervous a few weeks ago, when the tulips were slow in blooming. Last year the tulips left the city down, blooming too late for the festival.

Snyder Lauds

of the Congressional Medal of Honor. "There are only 265 in the United States. Let us add lustre to this great honor by avoiding the collection on any toll."

Mr. Snyder noted an astounding fact that "constant sounds are uttered by this bridge structure. The human ear cannot hear them, but sensitive instruments readily reveal a symphony played by the molecules and atoms, united in service."

Monument to Progress

He said the bridge broadcasts a message of progress for all to observe. "It resembles a giant needle, threaded by traffic to sew together Dutchess and Ulster counties," Mr. Snyder said.

"Any fool can be a pessimist. This bridge was thrust into being by optimists. All pessimists who cross it must pay the added toll exacted from all who lack faith in God and confidence in their fellow men."

Beautiful View

"This bridge" serves like a great front porch, from which one can easily see one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. The impressive mountains are lifted to all eyes. Each user really is purchasing a low price ticket to witness a great drama in the theatre of nature.

"For commercial and community life, this great span is not a gate way to opportunity. It is a gate way to opportunity."

year-old president of the five-man junta that replaced Rojas, listed a 14-point program he said the military regime would carry out.

The first point was a promise that the junta will remain in power only until Aug. 7, 1958, when a new presidential term is to start.

Beris said elections would be held for a successor government. The junta dissolved the Constituent Assembly, appointed by Rojas, which this week had suspended provisions of the constitution and declared Rojas re-elected for another four-year term beginning in 1958.

Program Points

Other points of the junta's program included: Maintenance of public order, with the armed forces keeping out of politics.

Formation of a cabinet including representatives of both traditional parties.

Restoration of freedom of the press.

Inclusion of only Roman Catholics in the government.

Maintenance of "social peace between management and labor."

Harriman Makes

did not drop off but showed a slight increase.

There was a 10 per cent increase in vehicles using the Authority's facilities, during April, 1956, as compared with April, 1955, Mr. Harriman said.

A total of 587,000 vehicles used the bridges last month, compared with 531,000 in April a year ago. The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge accounted for 52,000 of this, the Governor noted.

The new span accommodated nearly 160,000 vehicles between Feb. 2 its opening, and the end of April, he said.

All Enthusiastic

Laden skies could not dampen the enthusiasm or vision of progress for the area which today's dedication symbolized in Ulster and northern Dutchess counties.

Every speaker on the program envisioned the new bridge as an arterial link which will widen the commercial, social and business relationships between the communities it serves.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, co-author of the legislation which made the bridge dream a reality, was unable to attend because he is clearing up last minute business during a Florida vacation and before he returns to Kingston in the near future.

His legislative insight and dedication to his community during a 30-year tenure in the state Senate were, however, evidenced by the structure itself and were warmly praised by a number of speakers on today's program.

Arranged Minstrel Show

Mrs. Jacob Myers, ably assisted by Mrs. Clifford Donahue, made all arrangements when the St. Peter's minstrel show was presented at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital recently. Mrs. Myers is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Beat an egg or two lightly and add to bread stuffing for a change and good nutrition.

Wicks Hopes

Dutchess county during the entire year, except by going either to Poughkeepsie or Hudson.

New York state had never operated a ferry. However, even though it took several years to accomplish it, they were destined to operate their first ferry between Kingston and Rhinecliff. After months of negotiation between the executive branch of the state government, the state comptroller, the New York State Bridge Authority, bond attorneys, bill drafters and others, I introduced, on January 3, 1943, Senate Bill Introductory 45, which authorized and directed the New York State Bridge Authority to buy the land and a ferry and to establish ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff. This bill passed both houses of the legislature and was signed by the Governor on April 17, 1945. The Authority finally carried out the mandate of that bill and the ferry started to operate on May 16, 1946.

Temporary Relief

At last the counties of Ulster and Dutchess were again given an opportunity to resume business and their people to visit each other. The commercial interests of Kingston and Ulster county were again able, at least during a major portion of the year, to transact business with our neighbors in northern Dutchess. Kingston motorists were happy because they did not have to travel 16 miles down the river or 20 miles north.

Of course, the ferry, although an improvement on conditions previously existing, was but a stop-gap in our march of progress. I realized that before I introduced the ferry bill in 1945 because the previous year, on January 5, 1944, I introduced in the Senate, and Assemblyman Hatfield, from Dutchess, in the Assembly, a bill authorizing and directing the state superintendent of public works to prepare plans and make preliminary surveys and test borings necessary for construction of a bridge over the Hudson river between Kingston and Rhinecliff. This bill carried an appropriation of $50,000 to carry out its purpose.

This bill was prepared after months of research and study; the statute creating the New York State Bridge Authority and defining its power had to be examined word by word; the state comptroller had to be consulted, as well as the state superintendent of public works and the office of the executive. Because the bill authorized a large bond issue, financial provisions had to be carefully prepared after consultation with bonding attorneys and others. My bill was Senate Introductory 2, and while it passed both Houses it was vetoed by the governor.

It seemed that Sec. 533 of the Public Authorities Law, which was enacted to protect the bondholders of the three bridges then being operated by the New York State Bridge Authority, would not construct a competitive bridge over the Hudson river at any point between Albany and Bear Mountain.

Although all of the bonds of the Authority had been sold to the State Comptroller, they were a part of the assets of the New York State Retirement System and it was ruled that to finance a bridge at Kingston would be a violation of that pledge.

Another Issue

Another issue was raised in connection with the repayment to the state of about 7 1/2 million dollars which the state treasury had paid toward the cost of constructing the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie. It seems the cost of that bridge had been borne by a bond issue of the Authority and by funds made available in the state budget.

After many conferences and meetings, and much study and thought, both of these issues were resolved. The first by amendment to the law and the second by having the Authority issue new bonds and the proceeds pay back to the state treasury the amount still owing on the cost of the Mid-Hudson bridge. Of course, there were many other details that had to be ironed out. Many bills were introduced by the then Assemblyman from Dutchess, now Senator Ernest I. Hatfield, and by me, which amended a variety of laws to make compromises and meet objections from various quarters. Finally, after months of work, I introduced, on Jan. 17, 1947, Senate Bill No. 88, and Assemblyman Hatfield introduced its companion in the Assembly, which included all of the provisions agreed upon by all concerned. This bill passed both houses, was approved by the governor on March 17, 1947, and became Chapter 189 of the laws of 1947.

CYNICS IN THE KREMLIN

The major question for American policy makers remains the Soviet Union. There should be constant and clear thought on this question. But here we face a dilemma which is at the roots of the tragedy of the present, when so much is possible and so little is or sometimes even can be done.

Many serious Americans believe that a major effort of our policy should be that of trying to convince the leaders of Russia that we do not desire war, and that if a road of peace can be found, we will take this road readily. By doing that, and, at the same time, by convincing the Russian leaders that they cannot move forward until they are virtual rulers of the world, we will encourage (so this theory goes) moderate elements in Russia.

In principle, such a statement of aim can be affirmed. But questions remain, urgently grave ones. Do the Russian leaders want to be convinced—except on their own terms? They have emerged to their present position of power through years in which what was once an ideal to free men became a cover and false goal for a most cynical and ruthless creation of monstrous power.

In dealing with the rulers of Russia, we are face to face with men whose minds and hearts have been crusted and caked for years by cynicism. And how can you convince cynics of this caliber about motives and intentions? Or can you? And what does it mean to speak of the 'moderates' in Russia in a regime in which brutal cynicism prevails?

Herein lies one of the important factors in the world crisis. Whether the tactics of these ruthless cynics of the Kremlin be flexible or rigid, they are, nonetheless, worked out and applied by ruthless cynics.

THEY JUST DON'T SCARE EASILY

The little countries are supposed to tremble in their boots at the merest mention of nuclear weapons. But some of them just refuse to quake.

The newest example is tiny Denmark, which not long ago got one of those nasty Russian notes warning it would be suicide to allow NATO atomic installations on Danish soil. The Kremlin raised the usual bogey of nuclear annihilation in event of war.

But the tough Danes are going to tell Moscow in sharp terms that NATO is not an aggressive agency but a purely defensive alliance. And they are emphasizing the intent of NATO countries big and little to stick together no matter what the threats.

This is the stuff of which real strength is built. So long as NATO's members show the kind of spirit the Danes and the Norwegians are exhibiting, the alliance is in no danger of cracking and Russian communism is unlikely to bulldoze its way westward through Europe.

MASSIVE DREAM

It is just about a year since the new 33-billion-dollar federal interstate highway program became law. And in that span its administrators have encountered such a variety of obstacles that already they are saying the program will take 15 instead of the originally indicated 13 years.

The problems range from rising costs to insufficient planning at various levels to inadequate engineering and other technical manpower. A great master plan for highways or anything else cannot simply be "imposed" on a nation of three million square miles.

Periodic progress reports on the program deserve full fanfare. For the country should understand exactly how much is being accomplished under this most ambitious highway project of all times, and should understand exactly how much is being accomplished under this most ambitious

SENATOR FLANDERS' SALMON

Senator Ralph Flanders, according to the press agent of the "Fisherman" magazine, enjoys fishing for landlocked salmon, which is a good way to use up time, I suppose. Many of my friends are fishermen and they say they enjoy it very much. As they are among the young and old, male and female, there must be something to this particular avocation apart from the freedom an ex-President may feel of not being asked his opinion on world affairs and what he would do if he could. Fish ask no questions.

Senator Flanders is reported by the press agent of the "Fisherman" magazine to have said: "The great advantage of this particular fish as a quarry is the fact that when hooked it spends most of its time in the air. I know of no fish which puts on such a show. They will sometimes fairly walk on the water on their tails."

This, it would seem, is a reversal of position. Usually, it is the Senator who spends most of his time up in the air. Senators are placed in this difficult position by the retreat from the Constitution, transferring authority and power specifically designated to the Congress to the Executive. Thus, the Senators discover that they do not know what to do and they are up in the air.

But Senator Flanders goes one further. He says:

"They will sometimes fairly walk on the water on their tails."
This apparently applies to fish not to Senators. I have often pondered this matter. It is possible that those valiant Northwesterners, Neuberger and Morse, can walk on the water on their tails? If logic is not altogether a lost art, the should not be impossible for them or perhaps they have, by now, reached that stage of intellectual acrobatics which requires them, like a Yogi, to stand upon their heads, on Earth or on the waters. It is an amazing performance, if it can be done. But is there anything that a Senator cannot do, if he is so minded?

The House of Lords, parent of the Senate, has, to a very great extent, become a moribund body, except that in Great Britain, status does have meaning and a remark made in a literary peer may affect public opinion sharply. But the House of Lords permitted itself to be hornsogged by Lloyd George and other democrats who denuded it of its authority and much of its prestige and turned it into a chamber of opinion.

Our Senate has avoided such a fate. However, it might happen if too many Senators permit themselves, as Senator Flanders did, to act for such outside groups as the Committee for an Effective Congress, which is neither a political party nor a lobbying association but a congeries of individuals, most of whom could not be elected dog-catchers or anything else but who would like to exercise power. Senator Flanders, it is true, came clean and apologized for his errors, but that is because he is a New Englander of the old school and knows that mouths should be washed with yellow soap when they permit themselves to utter an untruth or a blasphemy.

Ergo, the Senate needs to beware that it does not go the way of the House of Lords for want of courage and logic and a sense of the worth of ancient institutions and constitutional prerogatives. Maybe the reason that Senator William Knowland is quitting in 1958 is that he is weary of some of the company he is required to keep, particularly those who are radishes, pink outside and white inside. For that too is becoming a custom among us, namely that some who feel like Taft speak like Sherman Adams because that is where the crumbs of patronage lie.

It is like in prohibition days when the noblest Romans of them all talked the language of the Anti-Saloon League and carried a bellyful of Bourbon and a hip-pocket flask to replenish the supply. Those whose minds are like sextants, shoot at the sun of plentitude, without regard to any principles of life. You may think of Huey Long as a Fascist and some do who do not know what a Fascist is, but the Kingfish did stand up for what he believed and it was on his feet that he stood, not on the water on his tail.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CHARACTERISTICS OF AN ALCOHOLIC

There are many popular theories on how and what an individual must drink to qualify as an alcoholic. For instance, some think that a man may drink a quart of whisky a day provided he makes certain he does not drink alone or that he may routinely consume 12 or more bottles of beer an evening if he drinks no whisky; and because he does not drink alone or consumes only beer in excess, according to popular theory he should not be considered a "real" alcoholic. The fact that a man never drinks alone or drinks only beer is not significant in determining the severity of his alcoholism. Also, it is not necessary for a patient to have delirium tremens or to become obviously intoxicated to be a chronic alcoholic.

Neither can alcoholism be diagnosed by the clock. It is not necessary for an individual to start drinking in the morning, before lunch, or before 5 p. m., to qualify; although, as the illness progresses, the hour at which the first drink is taken may be earlier in the day. For instance, the patient who, after several years of excessive drinking, begins to drink during the day, did not become an alcoholic the first time he took a drink on the job. This particular behavior shows only the severity of the disorder.

Many of these misconceptions are used by the alcoholic to disprove his diagnosis to himself. He may point out that he can "take it or leave it alone," "knows plenty of people who drink more than he does," "has been to many a party and never touched a drop," etc. The matter is that any individual who relies on alcohol to meet the ordinary demands of living and continues to drink excessively after alcohol has caused him domestic or occupational difficulty is an alcoholic whether he drinks only in the evening, has never taken a drink when alone, or has not touched anything but beer for five years.

The alcoholic frequently has morning nausea with a chronic productive cough that may lead to vomiting and which he is more apt to attribute to smoking than to drinking. Like many tense people, he may not be able to eat an adequate breakfast, particularly on a working day, and he may become easily tired and have a poor appetite. The majority of chronic alcoholics have an unusual amount of anxiety or tension that they attempt to control by drinking; this anxiety is experienced as a feeling of fear, dread or apprehension that may amount to panic.

Most anxious patients control their tension by developing some of the neuroses and various functional (not organic) physical complaints. The alcoholic, on the other hand, develops few physical complaints at first and tries to relieve his anxiety by drinking which is a temporarily effective measure. If the drinking is prolonged or excessive, he may then develop physical changes that aggravate and release his tension and hence increase his need for alcohol. This is a vicious cycle which keeps itself going until the patient becomes too ill physically to drink, or, in older alcoholics or those with a complicating physical illness, a state of delirium may occur.

Next week I would like to go on to the subject: can an alcoholic "taper off"?

Confusion Not Over Yet

Explanations Still to Come For Foreign Aid and Budget

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, May 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower's budget and his foreign aid program will still be big news for weeks to come. He had offered a record peace-time budget of almost 72 billion dollars, including $4,400,000,000 in foreign aid.

Nothing in Eisenhower's four White House years has exceeded the confusion over this budget. The end is not in sight.

Has Second Thoughts

Eisenhower had insisted his budget was as tight as he could make it. When the reaction set in—demands in and out of Congress for cuts—he had second thoughts and began talking of ways reductions could be made.

Most of them were bookkeeping reductions. Money he suggested he skipped this year would have to be voted in another year. So the reductions were postponements.

Four months of this session of Congress have passed and he still hasn't explained to the lawmakers in detail why he wants the foreign aid money or what he'll do with it. He'll do his explaining in a special message to Congress next week.

Going Before Nation

Meanwhile, after watching demands for budget cuts mount, Eisenhower has decided to make two broadcasts, appealing to the public to put pressure on Congress to ease up on its zeal for axing the budget.

Yesterday, in preparation for the message he sends to Congress next week, Eisenhower called congressional leaders to the White House. He suggested, as he had previously, that as much as 500 million might be chopped off foreign aid.

Later this writer asked two of those leaders for an explanation in some detail of what Eisenhower had in mind. One was so vague he said all he knew was that a 500-million reduction was suggested. The other said he was so puzzled he wasn't sure what the administration had in mind.

But even the 500 million cut talked of by Eisenhower may be simply a bookkeeping rearrangement, for this reason:

While telling Congress it can chop 500 millions off his $4,400,000,000 foreign aid figure, Eisenhower may propose that it reapportion 500 millions which was previously voted for this year but hasn't been obligated. Unless re-voted, it can't be spent.

Eisenhower's love of old platitudes—which he manages to state with such earnestness that sometimes they sound almost like new platitudes—helped open the door for Congress to rush in with its budget-cutting ax and a budget-cutting desire.

Humphrey Assist

But in this the President had a major assist from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. A timetable of what the two men said will show the origin of some of the confusion.

On Jan. 16, the day Eisenhower sent his budget to Congress, Humphrey said: (1) It was as tight a budget as the administration could produce but (2) "I think there are a lot of places in this budget that can be cut."

At his Jan. 23 news conference Eisenhower echoed Humphrey: He said it was the best budget that could be offered at this time. Then he stated his platitude: If Congress can cut the budget, it's Congress' duty to do so.

Congress didn't have to be told that. Under the Constitution it's Congress' job to control spending.

Budget Cuts Spread

Almost at once Congress was in a budget-cutting mood—too moody to suit Eisenhower. Budget-cutting talk snowballed around the country.

At his March 13 news conference Eisenhower said he hadn't asked Congress to do a hatchet job on his budget. All he meant to say, he said, was that if Congress could find a place to cut it ought to cut.

(It was the day before that—March 12—that the Democrats in Congress threw the ball back to Eisenhower and asked him if he had any idea how savings could be made.)

On April 3 he told a news conference he saw no place where cuts of as much as two billion dollars could be made. And he still stuck, he said, to his basic request of $4,400,000,000 for foreign aid.

Then on April 18 he suggested to Congress where a reduction of almost $1,800,000,000 might be made. This was the bookkeeping previously mentioned—500 million of it coming out of foreign aid.

UEW to Return After 10-Day Upstate Strike

Hudson Falls, May 11 (AP)—Electrical workers employed at General Electric Co. plants here and in nearby Fort Edward have ended their 10-day strike and will start back to work tomorrow.

Members of Local 332, United Electrical Workers (Independent), voted yesterday to end the strike, which has idled 1,625 workers in the two plants since May 1. The UE claims to represent 700 production workers. The strike began April 24 with a walkout in one department over a dispute in piece-work rates. Union members voted a full strike April 30.

There was no announcement of settlement terms. However, it was reported unofficially that the piece-work rate in the winding department would remain in effect pending further time studies requested by the union. It also was reported that the union would accept a company proposal to negotiate a two-year seniority agreement covering transfers due to lack of work.

Dies of Injuries

Malone, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Wesley Earl Conover, 28, of Albany, died in Alice Hyde Hospital today of injuries suffered last night when his car went out of control on a curve and struck a tree. The accident occurred on Route 37 about 2 1/2 miles north of here. State police said Conover lived at the Quiet Acres Trailer Court at 8 Norton street on Route 5 between Albany and Schenectady.

Questions -- Answers

Q—Why is potash so called?
A—Potash was originally obtained by leaching or running water slowly through, the ashes of burned wood and boiling down the solution in large open kettles. The residue, a white solid, was called potash because it was made from ashes in pots.

Q—How large do katydids grow?
A—in the tropics there are giant katydids, some species reaching a length of five or six inches, with their forewings 1 1/2 inches wide. When they fly they resemble small birds.

Q—What U. S. president later became a senator?
A—Andrew Johnson.

Q—Why was the Lewis and Clark expedition sent out?
A—to explore and study the new territory acquired by the Louisiana Purchase.

Week's Business & Finance Reported by AP

Brisk Trading

New York, May 11 (AP)—The stock market cracked through to a new 1957 high this week in brisk trading.

Climaxing an unbroken string of 11 weekly advances, most of them small, the market finally rose beyond its high of early January.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks rose 80 cents to $182.50.

It was a grudging and difficult advance. The average was unchanged on Monday and lower on Tuesday. On Wednesday prices recovered and the average matched the previous high of $182.00 established Jan. 4.

On Thursday, despite late profit-taking which slashed good gains by the industrials, the average rose to a new '57 high of $182.30, thanks to advances by the rails and utilities. Friday the industrials renewed their strength, moving the average up to another new high while the rails and utilities lagged.

Some Pleased Surprise

There was no outstanding news or any strong wave of confidence on Wall Street to send prices smashing decisively through the area of the old high, which has stood as a formidable upside barrier because of the stock available for sale at that level. Nevertheless, the continued penetration of this area yesterday was done in such a manner as to arouse some pleased surprise in bullish circles.

Wall Street sources reported that big institutional buyers were returning to the market.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Silver Creek Precision, off 1/16 at 1/4 on 140,000 shares; C. & C. Super Corp., unchanged at 1/4; Cornucopia Gold Mines, off 1/16 at 1/16; Barium Steel, off 1/4 at 9/8; and Norbute Corp., up 1/4 at 1/2.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Raytheon, up 2 at 21 1/2 on 171,100 shares; North American Aviation, up 3/4 at 34 1/2; Bethlehem Steel, off 1/4 at 45 1/2; General Tire & Rubber, up 6% at 88 1/2; and Texas Gulf Producing, up 3/4 at 47 1/2.

Bond Review

New York, May 11 (AP)—Corporate and U. S. government bond prices declined again this week in slack, dull trading.

Investor interest was at a low ebb even among some of the corporate and municipal new issues being floated at high interest rates. The U. S. Treasury found itself in difficulty with only 72 per cent of its offering of $4,155,000,000 certificates and notes sold. The 3 1/2 per cent notes were the highest interest paid by the treasury since 1933.

Among the corporates, foreign dollar liens slipped sharply, followed by utilities, investment quality issues and industrials. An indication of the plight of corporate bond prices is that rails achieved the best record of the week by closing unchanged from their levels of the previous week.

Trading volume was moderate, amounting to $19,901,500 par value on the big board, compared with $19,576,000 the previous week and $22,281,000 for the corresponding week in 1956.

The market in U. S. government bonds continued very thin, particularly for long range issues.

Future Offerings

The visible supply of state and municipal offerings scheduled for public bidding over the next 30 days rose to $318,960,922 compared with $297,543,257 a week ago. New issues on tap this coming week amount to $155,673,859 bonds and $20,700,000 short-term notes, compared with a total of $124,824,924 bonds and $44,102,000 notes for the past week, according to the Daily Bond Buyer. The weekly average of long-term offerings now is $139,807,300.

Feature of the municipal calendar is Thursday's auction of $30,703,625 State of Washington revenue bonds. Tuesday Massachusetts will sell $19,084,000 of various purpose bonds and Hawaii will put 14 million of improvement bonds on the block.

The corporate calendar also will be somewhat heavier. Monday Central Maine Power Co. will put 18 million of first mortgage bonds on the block. Tuesday New York State Electric & Gas Co. will open bids for 25 million of 30-year bonds and the next day Florida Light & Power Co. is to auction 15 million of first mortgage obligations. The Florida Power bonds will be accompanied by a stockholder offering of 255,813 shares of common stock via underwriters led by Kidder, Peabody & Co.

Livestock Report

Chicago, May 11 (AP)—The hog market this week was mixed with barrows and gilts under 230 pounds bringing steady to 25 cent higher prices while heavier weights sold weak to 50 cents lower. Sows were weak to 25 lower.

The week started with a top of $18.90 on Monday. Top price the remainder of the week was $19.00, matching last week's high.

Prices of barrows and gilts under 230 pounds extended recent advances following the sharpest upturns in lighter cuts of fresh pork to date this year. More than 10,500 hogs were sold for slaughter elsewhere, the largest shipments for any week in more than three months.

Steer Prices

Fed steers this week were extremely uneven, steady to 50 cents lower. Fed heifers were steady to 25 higher and cows steady to 50 higher. Bulls were weak to 50 cents lower.

Top price of the week was $27.25, paid Monday and Wednesday on a couple of loads of average prime steers scaling 1,250 to 1,290 pounds. Fed steers comprised about 75 per cent of the week's receipts of 49,000, largest in nearly four months.

Slaughter lambs finished the week 50 to 75 cents higher and slaughter ewes unevenly steady to $1 higher. Top price this week was $25.50 on several lots of choice and prime spring lambs.

Sheepmen noted quality of all classes this week was somewhat improved on receipts that were around 25 per cent more than last week and 30 per cent above the corresponding week of 1956.

Erratic Trading

Chicago, May 11 (AP)—The weather, government sales of surplus stocks for export and a sharp cut in funds sought for the soil bank combined this week to keep the board of trade an erratic and irregular trading place.

Both old and new style wheat ended lower than a week ago. Corn finished the week higher on old crop and down on the new. May oats showed strength but other contracts were weak. Rye sold into new seasonal lows and soybeans closed the week higher and lower.

Old style wheat closed Friday 1/4 to 3/4 lower than a week ago, new style wheat 1/4 to 3/4 lower, corn 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, oats 1/4 lower to 2 1/2 higher, rye 1/4 to 3 cents lower, soybeans 2 1/2 lower to 1 1/2 higher, and lard was 27 to 53 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Europe Weather Figures

The selloff in wheat was attributed in part to resumption of government selling of the bread grain for export from Commodity Credit Corp. Stocks. Export sales were influenced by a decided turn in the weather over central Europe, with heavy snow-fall and sharp unseasonable temperature drops at mid-week.

The government's latest estimate of the 1957 winter wheat crop, issued after the market closed yesterday, was 703,208,000 bushels, based on conditions as of May 1. The government's April 1 estimate had placed the harvest at 669 million bushels.

The simple front entrance, in the right wing of the house, opens on a good sized entry hall containing a large coat closet in the left wall. This entry hall leads directly into the 22'x13' 4" living room.

Boasting a handsomely large window, (divided off into 20 small sections), in the front wall, and a large and equally handsome fireplace in the back wall, the living room is both a practical and decorative asset for the house—it's a room that will be thoroughly enjoyed and 'lived-in' by each and every member of the family.

If you want to put your telephone in the basement recreation room, you'll find ample wall space against the right or left wall, or even against the front wall if you prefer it there. Doors from the living room lead, on the right, to the hall connecting the two bedrooms in the right wing of the house, in the back, to another hall connecting with the den or bedroom, lavatory and kitchen. The open archway in the left wall leads to the dining room.

Measuring 13' 4" x 10', the dining room is well lighted by corner windows which also are an attractive decorative feature of the over all house exterior as well as of the dining room. No housewife will need to be told how useful that china closet in the right front corner of the room can be.

Furnace Often Not to Blame

It's often wrong to blame the furnace when a house is poorly heated.

In many cases, the system of distributing the heat is actually at fault. The furnace produces plenty of heat, but it doesn't flow at the proper rate to the rooms where people live.

Part of the concept of "perimeter" heating, as recommended by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association, is to introduce warm air into rooms at the point where it is lost—i.e., along outside walls.

This helps keep wall surfaces warm and prevents cold drafts.

Even Temperatures

Floor-to-ceiling temperatures should be relatively even, too. In a poorly heated house, it's not uncommon to find that heat stratifies in a room, producing temperatures as much as 15 degrees higher at the ceiling than at the floor.

Engineers are finding ways to overcome stratification. One method is to distribute heat through "blenders" that mix warm air from the furnace with existing room air for constant air circulation. As a result, the temperature spread between the floor and ceiling often is as little as 3 degrees. This not only gives greater comfort, but works to decrease fuel bills, too, for fuel need not be wasted in excessive heating of the upper layer of room air.

A good heating system also should maintain approximately the same temperature in every room of the house. It is part of the installing dealer's job to "balance" the system for this purpose. Ducts are regulated by dampers so that each room gets its correct proportionate amount of the total volume of warm air produced by the furnace.

New Home Market

Home building is no longer based on a housing shortage or other necessity, but rather on the desire of families with rising incomes to own bigger and better homes. This is the conclusion of the United States Savings and Loan League in its "Policies—1956," a series of recommendations to the league's 4,200 member institutions. "The market for new houses should be very good throughout 1956" says the executive committee.

What to Do for 'Dead' Freezer

The home freezer owner has little to worry about during an electric power failure if she takes certain simple precautions promptly.

Most power line failures last only a few hours. A well constructed freezer will keep its food contents frozen for at least 24 hours without power.

Keeping the appliance closed is sufficient protection if the power is off for more than 36 hours, play safe. Pack the top inside portion of the freezer with dry ice, if available. Fifty pounds of it will keep a 17-cubic-foot freezer cold for two or three days.

In an extreme emergency, when dry ice is not available and when power may be off for several days or weeks, it is advisable to move large supplies of frozen food to a commercial locker establishment.

Red Houses Make A Pleasing Contrast

Red paint is always in the best-seller class, especially for ranch houses. On many new homes—and older ones, too—a deep red tone is pleasing because it contrasts so agreeably with the green of the trees and shrubs in the surrounding area. Before you decide on red, however, be sure it harmonizes with neighboring houses and that it suits the architectural style of your own. The "barn" reds, by the way, are considered among the most durable of all house paints.

Pre-Hung Panel Doors Are Big Time Savers

When a builder saves time on the job, he saves cash and can give you a better home for less. For his reason, many builders are installing pre-hung panel door units of ponderosa pine in their new homes.

The doors, complete with frame and hardware, go in place in minutes. Complete window units of ponderosa pine, with frame and sash factory-made to fit each other, are another time and money saver.

Sticky Floors

Insufficient rinsing, dirt, humidity, too much polish or use of inferior polishes cause floor polish to become sticky. Remove thoroughly with a cleaner, rinse well and apply a thin coat of self-polishing wax.

Plane Should Rest on Edge

A plane should never be set down or stored with the cutting edge down. To protect the edge it should rest on its side or on a pile of shavings.

If it is more convenient to put a plane away in its normal working position, a little strip of wood under the front of the plane will hold the edge free of damage.

Withdrawing the blade by means of the depth-setting screw when it is stored, as some handymen do, is a needless nuisance.

Gypsum Sheathing

The advantages of diagonal sheathing for strength have long been reorganized. However, gypsum sheathing carries claims, too, for bracing exterior walls. This material in 16-square-foot panels provides a fine base for any exterior finish—stucco, wood siding, brick or stone veneer, or wood or asbestos shingles.

Laundry Cardboards

Save those cardboards that come home with shirts fresh from the laundry. They make fine "edgers," especially when you're painting the baseboard. Slide one on the floor, close against the baseboard, as you go along. It will keep smudges from the floor, and can be disposed of easily.

Washing Plastics

Add a few drops of vinegar to rinse water when washing plastic curtains. The vinegar acts as an anti-static solution and cuts down on the attraction of dust. Plastic upholstery can be wiped with a damp cloth wrung from a water and vinegar solution.

Time to Clean Floors

A good time to clean wood floors is when you take the rug up. Wash them with detergent then wipe with a cloth wet with paint thinner. Then give it a final waxing.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office)

Check Faucet Screw

When replacing washer faucets check the condition of the little brass screw that holds the washer in place. If the screw is badly corroded, better replace it. If you don't next time you need a new washer you may find that the head of the screw will twist off and that means no new washer but a new faucet stem.

Turn Heater Off

It's a good idea to turn off the hot water heater before you go on a vacation of more than a few days. Over a period of weeks the average heater will use up quite a bit of fuel or electricity keeping the water inside the tank at a constant temperature.

Cleaning Stripping

Clean metal weatherstripping with a fine grade of steel wool.

Additional Safety Awards to County Firms Announced

Additional safety awards to Ulster county firms presented at the 32nd annual safety award banquet sponsored by the Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., and Mid-Hudson Industrial Association this week at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie were announced today.

Four area firms of the 25 companies designated received five of the 38 awards presented at the banquet.

Firms Listed

They are: Callanan Road Improvement Co., plant 3, 100 per cent award; International Business Machines Corp., Electric Typewriter Division and Military Products Division, honorable mention; Hercules Powder Company, 100 per cent for the third consecutive year and Ferroxcube Corp., Saugerties plant, 100 per cent.

Attending for the local firms were: Hercules—Richard C. Tucker, George Sheldon, Frank Murphy, Kenneth Newell, Paul Stock, Peter Barmann and Alan P. Crowley; Ferroxcube—Basil J. Kane; Callanans—Lester Van Alstyne, superintendent; Frank Tiano, Edward Trombley and Charles Lynch; IBM, Typewriter Division—L. L. Horn and H. C. Livingston; Military Products—John H. Fraser, Donald Priest and Clement E. Lepine.

Paints for Masonry

Rubber-base paints are often used for masonry surfaces because of their alkali-resistant qualities. They can be applied to asbestos shingle, stone, brick, concrete and cinder block.

Ventilating Fans

A 10-inch ventilating fan will usually be sufficient for an 8x12 foot kitchen. For a larger kitchen, you'll probably need a 12-inch fan.

The guy who doesn't know the meaning of fear probably doesn't know the meanings of a lot of other words either.

New York Firm Submits Low Bid For Bridge Job

John W. Johnson, state superintendent of Public Works, announced receipt of a low bid of $102,580 from George Campbell & Co. of Flushing, L. I. for cleaning and painting the quarter-century old Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie. Ten bids were received.

The 3,000-foot long suspension type bridge will be spot painted with a primer coat of red lead paint and two final coats of aluminum. It is estimated that about 3,700 gallons of paint will be required in order to complete the job.

Funds Provided

Funds for the work will be provided by the State Bridge Authority, with the State Department of Public Works acting as the authority's agent in progressing the project.

Work is expected to get under way soon, following a check by state engineers of all bids received. If the low bid is found acceptable after this review, the contract will be officially awarded. The time lapse between receipt of bids and contract award is usually about three weeks.

Scheduled for completion by October 1, all work will be under the supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, acting district engineer in charge of the department's district office in Poughkeepsie.

Traffic across the bridge will be maintained at all times during the work.

Port Ewen

Presentation Church Activities Scheduled

Port Ewen, May 11—The Holy Name Society of the Church of the Presentation will meet at the parish hall Sunday night after services to complete plans for the annual Communion breakfast scheduled for St. Leo's Hall, Port Ewen Sunday, June 9. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

A reception for new members of the Presentation Church will be held Sunday, May 26 at 3 p. m. in St. Leo's Hall. The deadline for reservations for the Communion breakfast of the Women's Club of the Presentation Church at the Governor Clinton Hotel has been set as Monday. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Frank Dempsey or Mrs. Robert Henry.

Local Minister Will

Serve at East Kingston
Port Ewen, May 11—The Rev. F. W. Coutant of Port Ewen will serve as acting minister for the East Kingston and Glasco Methodist Churches.

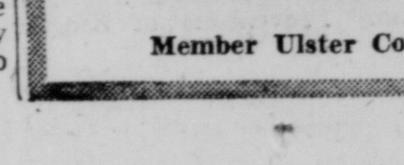

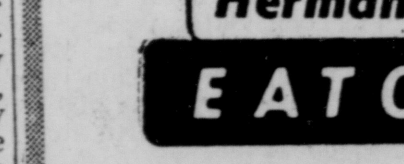

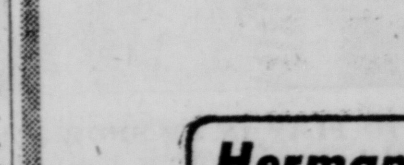

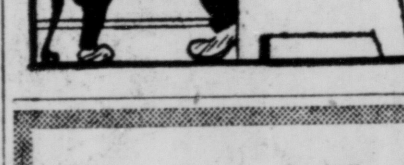

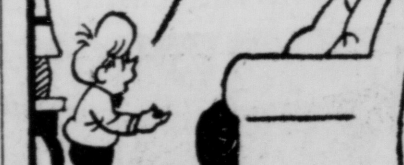

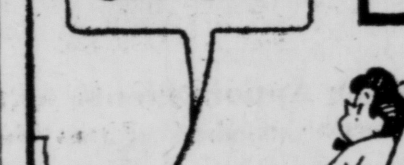

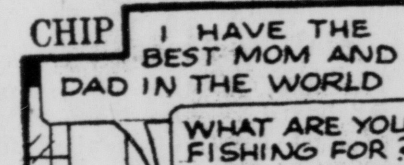

The East Kingston and Glasco charge has been without a regular pastor since the retirement of the Rev. Fred Deming, who served in that area and Kingston for many years.

At the New York Methodist annual conference in Newburgh last week it was announced that the minister for the charge would be supplied.

According to the Rev. Mr. Coutant, he is serving as temporary supply at the urgent request of the two churches.

BRIDGE Squeeze Beats Odds on Break

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
South lost no time about going down. He trumped the second club, played one round of trumps, entered dummy with the king of hearts, discarded two hearts on the ace and king of spades, led a heart to his ace and played the jack of hearts.

South hoped to trump that card in dummy but West ruined everything by ruffing with the eight-spot and that was all.

South had no real excuse for losing the hand. His line of play had a fair chance for success but he would have done much better if he had relied on possible squeezes and errors by the defense instead of putting his trust in a three-three heart split.

The opening club lead marked East with the ace. South should have ducked the opening lead and simply run off all his trumps after ruffing the second club.

On the next-to-last trump lead dummy would go down to ace-king-jack of spades, king-four of hearts and king of clubs. He would have watched the East and West discards intently and would have noticed that the squeeze (if there was one) would be against East. Hence he would throw jack of spades from dummy.

A heart would be led to dummy's king and the ace and king of spades would be cashed. This series of plays would complete a squeeze against East. East would have to unguard his queen of hearts in order to hold on to the ace of clubs and that would be all.

Complete confidence in something comes only when that something demonstrates continued success. We have complete confidence in classified ads because they consistently are successful.

Bishop to Visit At St. John's

Confirmation Rite

The Rt. Rev. Horace William Baden Donegan, STD, DD, Bishop of the Diocese of New York, will visit St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany avenue at Tremper at 11 a. m. Sunday.

This is the annual visitation of the bishop for the purpose of confirming those ready and desirous of receiving the Apostolic Rite of the Laying on of Hands.

Largest Class
In announcing the Bishop's visit the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's said, "This will undoubtedly be the largest class that I have presented in my 14 years as rector, and could possibly be one of the largest classes since St. John's moved to Albany avenue 30 years ago."

In addition to confirming the class, Bishop Donegan will preach the sermon at this time.

Music at the service under the direction of Dr. O. Lincoln Igou will be mostly hymns appropriate for the special occasion.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

Mother's Day Worship

Sunday, traditionally Mother's Day, will be observed at the worship services in the churches of the New Paltz Methodist parish.

The spiritual aspects of consecrated motherhood will be stressed at the 8:30 and 11 o'clock services in New Paltz Church, at the 9 a. m. service in the Lloyd Church, and at 2 p. m. in Plutarch Church.

At 9 and 11 a. m., and 2 p. m., the Rev. Willet Porter, minister, will liken the Christian Mother to the "Jewel of the Family."

The early morning service in New Paltz will be conducted by Kenneth Davis, local preacher, who will speak about "A Dedicated Life." Organists in the three churches include Mrs. Eugene Trautwein, George Meyer, and Mrs. William Schmalkuche, Jr., and assistants.

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered by The Rev. Mr. Porter at the 11 o'clock service.

Spring Dinner

The committee for the annual spring dinner sponsored by New Paltz Methodist Church announces that tickets are now available for the event Thursday with servings at 5:30 and 7 in the social hall of the church, Main and Grove streets.

The main course will be roast beef. Tickets are available in New Paltz from members of the church, Margies' Dress Shop, Dearnley's Drug Store, Zupp's Pharmacy, Doug's Auto Service or Duso Motors, Inc.

The supper committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Krom, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fredenburgh, Gerald Firth, Willard Hornbeck, Mrs. Alvin Beatty, Mrs. Joseph Marks and Mrs. August Martin, and others.

Local Appointments

At the concluding session of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church this week in First Church, Newburgh, Bishop Frederick Buckley Newell made several ministerial appointments to the churches in the New Paltz locale including the Rev. John E. Swords, for the fifth year to the Modena-Clintondale parish; the Rev. William I. Cosman, for the third year to the Highland parish; and the Rev. Willitt R. Porter Jr., for the seventh year to the New Paltz parish.

Official Meetings

The next meeting of the official board of the New Paltz Methodist Church is called for Monday at 8 p. m. sharp, in the fellowship room of the church.

This is the first meeting of the new conference year and the Rev. Mr. Porter is desirous of all members of the board to be present.

VISITING A FRIEND WHO HAS MOVED

A reader tells me: "About two months ago a close neighbor of ours moved from here into a house of her own out in the suburbs. Would it be proper for my husband and me to drive out there some Sunday to visit them, or must we wait for her to invite us to see her new house?"

It is not necessary to be invited to go to the house of a friend. I do think, however, that you should call ahead of time and ask if she is ready to receive visitors.

Reception at Bridegroom's House

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married shortly. The wedding is being held in a church. The reception room adjoining the church is too small for the number of guests invited to the reception after wedding. I would like to know if it would be proper to have the reception at the bridegroom's house? My house is much too small. The bridegroom's mother has graciously offered the use of her house. Before accepting I would like to know if it would be the proper thing to do to have the reception there.

Answer: If there is neither club nor hotel where the reception could be held, the reason for giving the reception at the bridegroom's house would be perfectly well understood. In fact, this plan by no means unheard of. The invitations should of course go out in your and your husband's names and at the end of the invitations the following would be added: and afterwards at the reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown 1 Park Lane

This explains that you are defraying all the expenses of the reception and that the house of the bridegroom's parents is obviously being used because of its size.

A Man's Hat

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like to know if a man should remove his hat when entering a department store.

Answer: No, not at all necessary.

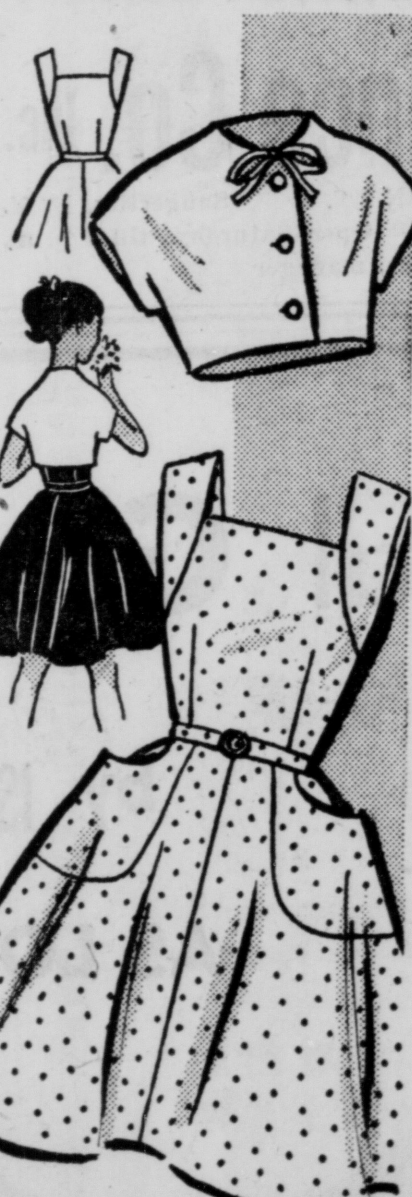

Should table linen be monogrammed, and if so, where should the monogram be placed? This information and many other suggestions about linens for various occasions are included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linens." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Noted Architect To Be Guest At New Paltz

R. Buckminster Fuller, inventor, designer, architect and engineer, will be the guest at a reception sponsored by the Art Education Division of the State University Teachers College at New Paltz, Sunday in the College Union Building from 3 to 5 p. m.

A retrospective exhibition of his work will be on display in the College Union Building during the remainder of the month of May and the general public is invited to attend the reception or to view the exhibit at any time.

Dome For Dodgers

According to Dr. Ralph Wickiser, chairman of the Art Division, Mr. Fuller has been one of the most outstanding figures in the field of structural design and engineering for the past 30 years and his geodesic structure is being utilized throughout the world. He gained widespread public attention last year with his proposal to enclose the stadium of the Brooklyn Dodgers with one of his geodesic domes.

Among Mr. Fuller's most important works is the construction of the dome for the Ford Motor Company Rotunda in Dearborn, Mich. His latest achievement, unveiled two months ago by the Kaiser Aluminum Company, is an all-aluminum dome for a hotel and night club in Honolulu, Hawaii.

YOUR MOTHER
One heart I have within my breast
It's filled with love from heaven
above
Without this love, my life would be
So dreary and so sad to me
So love her, whether here or there
Your Mother is with you everywhere.
SOPHIE SCHMIDTKONZ

Dearborn, Mich. His latest achievement, unveiled two months ago by the Kaiser Aluminum Company, is an all-aluminum dome for a hotel and night club in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mr. Fuller's structures, Dr. Wickiser said, are acclaimed both for their engineering in spanning clear space with a minimum structure and for their visual impressiveness.

Stitch in Time

Fontana, Calif. (AP) — There's an eyebrow raiser of an item in the minutes of a recent board meeting of the Fontana Unified School District. But when explained it makes sense. The board voted unanimously to refuse school district transportation for pregnant girls. Superintendent Ferdinand J. Kiesel explained that there are five girls in high school who are married—and pregnant. Fontana's streets were in a chopped up condition because of repairs. The board decided it would be better not to have the five girls riding in school buses that bounce and bump.

Pack 13 Scouts Observe Theme, Visit Firehouse

Following the theme of the month, "Cub Scout Fireman," the Cubs of Den 2, Pack 13, of P-TA 7 School were guided on a tour of the equipment and facilities at the Central Fire Station Friday.

Deputy George Matthews showed the Cubs the living quarters of the firemen and the chief's office. Fireman Richard Weeks explained the many tools and nozzles carried on the ladder truck, and described how the aerial ladder could extend 80 feet in the air when the truck was properly jacked on the sides. Fireman Conrad Remus took the Cubs around the pumper and showed the different sizes of hose and told how it could be pulled off the truck either by starting at a hydrant or by laying it from the location of the fire.

Fireman Lewis Varga operated the siren on the chief's car. The Cubs were then given a demonstration of how short-wave radio worked with a walkie-talkie, the chief's car and headquarters holding a three-way conversation. Fireman Walter Miller brought out the inhalator and explained how it was used on people suffering from gas poisoning. After a final look at the tape which keeps a punched record of incoming calls from fire boxes the boys all expressed their thanks to Deputy Matthews.

The Cub Scouts that made the visit with Den Mother Mrs. Edward Safford were Thomas and John Brown, Chris Chafouleas, Wayne Cline, Frank Hamble, Terry Joy, Joel Richardson, and Bruce Safford. Adults on the visit were Mrs. Horace Brown, Jeff Joy and Edward Safford, neighborhood commissioner.

Pack 13 has planned an outing with this theme for its monthly Pack meeting. Mrs. Angstrom, den mother of Den 1, is to lead the Cub Scout round-table discussion on "Archeology for the Young" at the next District meeting.

KHS Choir Gives Outstanding Performance In Concert Friday Before Large Assemblage

By DOROTHY NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

More than 100 members of Kingston High School Choir blended their voices in a concert Friday on the stage of their high school auditorium and enthralled their listening audience.

The concert was under the direction of Leonard Stine, music director. The well balanced program included selections for every musical taste.

It was evident with the opening notes of "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," that Mr. Stine had a well trained, responsive group at his fingertips.

Their attacks, releases, tone quality and intensity as evidenced with each number, was a marvel to behold, especially in such young adults. Their execution of each selection was worthy of any adult group.

One musical feat, which often takes years of training but was done beautifully in "God Is a Spirit," by Jones, was the sustaining of a single tone.

Soloists Featured
Linda Merritt and Benjamin Beck sang a lovely rendition of Romberg's "Desert Song."

A difficult number, Verdi's "Praise Ye" from Atila, was sung by Angela Lovy, John Markett and Roy Stewart. Their performance was warmly received by the audience.

Always a favorite is Romberg's "Serenade" from the Student Prince which Judith Lacey and Richard Bunting did very capably.

Nancy Eckhart and Glen Bohnke gave the audience a real treat by singing Schubert's "Serenade" which was followed by a duet featuring Linda

Lawrence, possessor of a rich alto voice and Frank Parslow, bass-baritone. Their selection was "Down in the Forest" by Ronald.

Dolores Albrecht and Cornelius Freer had to take a second bow for their interpretation of "Indian Love Call," by Friml.

Do Credit to Brahms
One piece, which in this reporter's opinion is a beautiful bit of music, performed with true artistry, was "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" by Brahms. Noteworthy in this selection was the vivid interpretation, color, shading and polish.

Also receiving laudits from the audience was Schuman's "Prologue."

As a refreshing change in pace, the choir sang several spirituals. Perhaps the one which really caught the fancy of those listening was "Dry Bones." The singers very cleverly supplied their own sound effects and their timing was perfect. They also kept beautifully the rhythmic beat of the spirituals.

A brass ensemble consisting of Richard Nadal, Dudley Goodwin, Richard Luedtke, Martin Tirsch, Matthew Ten Eyck, Frederick Barthel and Richard Bunting, joined the choir in presenting "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor."

Mr. Stine and the choir concluded their evening of music with Mollot's "The Lord's Prayer."

Perform Double Service
The choir not only performed a service in presenting a beautiful concert on Friday, but they performed another service for those in the audience whether or not they realized it.

They illustrated what a large segment of our youth can and are doing in the way of constructive creative work. Too often, the youth of today are brought to bear the consequences of a few, popularly termed, "juvenile delinquents." Whereas the efforts and accomplishments of the majority are taken for granted.

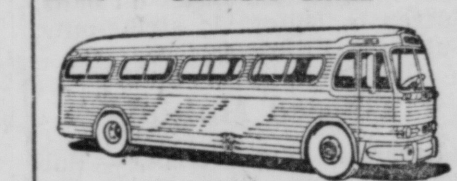

Friday night's concert is an example of what the youth of today are doing and they deserve all the accolades and praise bestowed upon them.

Stirnweiss to Conduct Baseball Clinic at Stadium May 25

Tommy Holmes, Spec Shea Also Due to Appear City Baseball Dinner At Barn Same Night

Three former major league baseball stars, headed by George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, American League batting champion in 1945, will conduct a baseball clinic at Dietz Stadium on Saturday, May 25, Fred J. Davi said today.

Stirnweiss will be assisted by Frank (Spec) Shea, ex-Yankee and Washington pitcher, and Tommy Holmes, former Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodger outfielder.

The clinic and tryout, open to ball players of all ages, will be held from 2 to 5 p. m. and will be followed by the City Baseball League dinner at 7 p. m. at the Barn.

Glascio Athletic Club, which Davi heads as president, will sponsor the 1956 City Baseball League season will be made at that time.

Major League Chance

Stirnweiss has notified Davi that any likely looking prospects will be signed to contracts or recommended for major league trials. He is anxious, however, to see all kids of Little League and Babe Ruth League age at the clinic.

Registration for the clinic will take place at 1:30 p. m.

Stirnweiss, currently associated with the New York Journal-American and the 1945 American League batting title with an average of .309. He collected 195 hits that year. He was base stealing king in 1944 with 55 and in 1945 with 33.

Shea Rookie Ace

Shea, a rookie pitching sensation in 1947, earned Rookie-of-the-Year honors that season and defeated Ralph Branca and the Brooklyn Dodgers in the opening game of the World Series, 5-3, at Yankee Stadium.

He also won the fifth game, 2-1. Picked by the Yankees for his third start in the crucial seventh game, Shea was relieved by Bill Bevens and Joe Page, who received credit for the 5-2 victory. Arm trouble hampered him in later years and he eventually wound up with the Washington Senators. He retired two years ago.

Holmes played on the last Boston Braves pennant winning team in 1948. That was the team of Spahn and Sain and two days of rain. Holmes scored the lone run of the first game in which Sain bested Bob Feller, 1-0.

All three players have appeared at Dietz Stadium in exhibition games in the past and are looking forward to the clinic.

City, Rec Softball Set to Open

City and Recreation softball leagues begin their long summer grind next week with a full schedule of games.

City League gets the jump Monday night with four games. Rec gets underway Tuesday with the same number of tilts. All games are listed to start at 6:15 p. m.

Schedule calls for City League to play every Monday and Wednesday and Rec on Tuesday and Thursday throughout the summer.

Lower Hasbrouck Park, St. Mary's, Block Park, Upper Hasbrouck Park and the Athletic Field will be the sites of all games. The Athletic Field diamond will only be used for early season games while the Upper Hasbrouck Park surface is being readied.

Eight-Team Leagues

Both circuits list eight teams. Making up the City loop are Wimpy's, Pat & George's, Chez Emile, Subway Grill, Miron Lumber, Hilltop Rest, Prospect Dairy and Shannon's.

Rec teams include Chapie's, Bulllocks, Trailer Haven, Hercules, VFW, Downtown S & A, Krovan's and Ten Grand. Opening night schedule for both leagues follows:

City League

Wimpy's vs. Pat & George's (Lower Hasbrouck)
Chez Emile vs. Subway Grill (Athletic Field)
Miron Lumber vs. Hilltop Rest (St. Mary's)
Prospect Dairy vs. Shannon's (Block Park)

Recreation League

Chapie's vs. Bulllocks (Lower Hasbrouck)
Trailer Haven vs. Hercules (Athletic Field)
VFW vs. Downtown S & A (St. Mary's)
Krovan's vs. Ten Grand (Block Park)

Grimaldi Tops in Jr. Major

Frank Grimaldi, No. 1 Detroit Tiger fan in the city, led the Men's Junior Major with a gaudy 196.17 average for 90 sets, official figures revealed today.

Grimaldi also won high individual series and single game honors. His 718 set was far and away the best effort while his 266 solo was 11 pins better than runnerup Jack Crosswell.

Crosswell was second in average with 183.66 in 90 games. Nick Carl was third on 180.17 in 81 sets.

Weishaupt's Wins Trio

Weishaupt's Market took the pennant in a driving finish over Sunnyside Grill. The teams were tied with 53-40 records on the last night and faced each other. Weishaupt's won the showdown in convincing fashion, 3-0.

League has voted to bowl at Sani's Bowlero next season. Officers include Frank Turk, president; Sam Turk, vice-president; Fred Buchanan, secretary and Tom Orr, treasurer. Rules and Advice committees are Crosswell, Aug Corrado and Dick Waltman.

Middletown Thinclads Defeat High School in Dual Meet,

Sanford, Maris Early Favorites For Rookie Prizes

(By The Associated Press)

Philadelphia's Jack Sanford and Cleveland's Roger Maris stood out today as the early season favorites for the major leagues' rookie-of-the-year honors.

Sanford, 27-year-old right-hander who joined the Phillies last September after two years in the army, leads all National League pitchers with a 4-0 record. Maris, 21-year-old outfielder, who did not make the Cleveland roster until after spring training, is up among the American League leaders with five home runs and 17 runs batted in on a .315 batting average.

A three-hitter by Sanford last night highlighted Philadelphia's 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh which boosted the Phillies into fourth place, one game back of Brooklyn. The rookie fanned 10 and had a shutout until the ninth. Then a walk and Hank Foiles' triple produced the only Pirate run.

Maris clouted a home run with a mate aboard to feature Cleveland's three-run rally against freshman southpaw Gene Host, in the Indians' 4-1 victory over Kansas City. The triumph boosted the Tribe into third place, a half game behind New York.

The Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over Detroit with a 6-4 victory that gave them undisputed possession of the American League lead, a full game in front of the Yankees, who were beaten by Baltimore 4-1. Rain forced the postponement of the scheduled game between Washington and the Red Sox in Boston.

Milwaukee snapped its three-game losing streak with a 10-5 victory over St. Louis that increased the Braves National League lead over the Cincinnati Reds to one game. The Reds' scheduled game with the Cubs in Chicago was postponed because of rain. The New York Giants dropped third place Brooklyn two games from the top with a 2-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

Team results: Forst Packers 2, Newcombe Oil 1; Denton Cadillac 0, Rookies Tavern 3; Colonial Cabinets 1, Schoentag's Hotel 2; Ballantine Beer 1, Jones Dairy 2.

BROOKS UNLOADS 596 IN EVERYBODY'S

Charlie Brooks sandwiched a hefty 243 between lines of 172 and 181 for 596 and top series in Everybody's League. John Hartman socked 204-525, Art Parks 501, John Howard 216-

543, Flip Felipe 213-525, Harry Rice 208-578, Ben Durr 510, Elwood Osterhoudt 200-525, Leo Stauble 524, Fred Schryver 213-537, Bob Morris 219-583, Jack Houghtaling 201-567, Dave Adler 201-587, Al Dube 203-537, Fred Zimmerman 501, Ken Houghtaling 204-201-585.

Team results: Morgan's Rest 1, Kendall Oils 2; Gene's Bar & Grill 1, Rapp's Express 2; All Stars 2, Foodmore Farms 1; All Stars 2; Island Dock 0, Amell's 3.

EVELYN GROSS HEADS CLASSIC ON 522

Evelyn Gross snared top honors in the Women's Classic with a nifty 522 set. She wrapped games of 147 and 151 around a sizzling 224.

Jen Vines spilled 518, Faye Horne 517, June Van Kleck 503, Nellie Alverson 222-514, Betty Egan 200-512, Laura Le May 474, Lorraine Ferraro 470, Betty Bailey 429, Helen Van Keuren 405, Nell Glennon 410, Irene Maurer 451, Chris Gallop 469, Shirley Carino 408, Dot Donnaruma 466, Dot La Rocco 484, Helen Broskie 443, Dottie Geisler 468, Betty Myers 486, Flo Beichert 467, Mary Wyant 435, Jean Walton 418, Mary Donnelly 427, Mabel Chapman 429, Betty Saban 431, Tess Moss 476, Jane Berthoff 412, Amy Miller 482, Hilda Johnson 449, Shirley Will 423.

HANK SAPPE paced a low night of shooting in the Electro League with a 577. He had games of 218, 181 and 178.

Ben Toffel fired 524 and Hugh Burke 512 for the only other '500' sets.

Team results: Turrets 1½, Management 2½; Milling 3, Electro 0; Production Control 1, Tool Room 2; Dispatch 2, Grinding 1.

Still Waiting To Examine Score

Cleveland, May 11 (AP)—Another full day of waiting is likely before the injured right eye of pitcher Herb Score will be ready for the examination which will indicate how his sight was affected.

Dr. Charles I. Thomas, Cleveland eye specialist, is encouraged by the way the million-dollar southpaw's eye is clearing. He said the eye may be clear enough for an examination today, but more likely it will come Sunday.

A line drive crunched into Score's face at Cleveland Stadium about 8:10 p. m. (EDT) Tuesday night when the Cleveland Indians' ace was pitching against the New York Yankees. Since then bleeding has limited his medical treatment mainly to rest and quiet and some drugs to ease pain and stimulate absorption of the hemorrhage.

Bloomington, Ind. (NEA)—Panya Chottikhun is one of 32 Indiana students elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, top scholastic honor for business administration. He is a gymnast from Thailand.

Wallkill Walks To Victory Over Highland, 6 to 1

Wallkill Central walked to victory as it took a 6-1 decision from Highland High yesterday in a UCAL contest at Highland.

Dave Burdash, Highland right-hander, ran into a streak of wildness in the fifth inning and walked six batters, opening the way for four runs which snapped a 1-1 deadlock. Wallkill didn't get a hit in the payoff frame and wound up with just four in all.

Left-hander Henry Hecht restricted three Highland safeties in going the route. He struck out seven and passed one.

Walt Burger started for Highland, but gave way to Burdash in the fourth. The latter was charged with the defeat. He passed nine altogether.

Hecht and Frank Labriola doubled for the only extra base hits.

The triumph boosted third place Wallkill's record to 4-2. Highland is 2-4.

Monte Irvin Quits Baseball

Los Angeles, May 11 (AP)—An aching back has ended the career of one of baseball's greatest Negro players—Monte Irvin.

Irvin, one of the chief agents in the almost miraculous drive that brought the New York Giants the National League pennant in 1951, announced yesterday that he is retiring.

Monte, who admits to 39 years, said he was returning to his home in South Orange, N. J., and planning to get a job in an office so he could avoid straining his back.

Middies Win 9 First Places

Peterson, Johnson, Engle Score for KHS

Middletown High's track team grabbed nine first places to defeat Kingston High, 57½-37½, in a dual meet yesterday at the Mid-City.

It was the Middies' third triumph over DUSO League opposition. They had previously disposed of defending champion Port Jervis and Poughkeepsie.

Good balance carried Coach Ed Faller's thinclads to victory. The Middies didn't have a double winner in the lot as eight different individuals picked up first place points. The other first was in the varsity relay.

Winners for Kingston were Ray Peterson (mile) Marv Engle (discus) and Larry Johnson (broad jump). Peterson was clocked in the good time of 4:54 which was 10 seconds faster than last week's victory against Arlington. Engle heaved the discus 125 feet 8 inches and Johnson broad jumped 18 feet 11½ inches.

Kias Not Disappointed

Despite the setback, Coach G. Warren Kias wasn't disappointed with his squad's showing. 'Middletown has a very strong team, the win over Port proved that,' Kias said. 'Our times were a lot better than against Arlington, on the whole, but they had more strength,' he added.

Kingston's chances were hurt somewhat when ace sprinter John Brice suffered an upset stomach prior to the meet. Brice swept the 100 and 220 last week, but could only pick up a third in the latter event yesterday.

Next rival of the Maroon will be fast improving Poughkeepsie next Friday at the Bridge City.

Jackie Pung Making Strong Golf Comeback

Gatlinburg, Tenn., May 11 (AP)—Jackie Pung, whose comeback effort was never more apparent, has set herself a pace which will could land the top prize in the $7,500 Gatlinburg Women's Open golf tournament.

As third-round play commenced today, the San Francisco Hawaiian found herself in a three-way tie at 152, three strokes off the lead held by Marilyn Smith of Wichita. Miss Pung had a superb par round which almost overshadowed the consistent golf which kept Marilyn on top.

Back on the pro circuit after a year's absence, Jackie's 36-37-73 over the par 38-35-73 mountain-side layout of the Gatlinburg Golf Club was the first par round of the tourney and jumped the one-time national amateur titlist from 17 to 3 strokes off Miss Smith's pace.

First prize is $1,350.

Marilynn, her putting steadied, took the lead she shared at the start of the round with a 1-over-par 74 to give her a 75-74-149 for 36 holes. One stroke back was Betty Jameson of San Antonio, who was 1 over on each nine for a 75 and 151.

With Mrs. Pung at 152 were Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif.

The 72-hole tournament ends tomorrow.

Supply Line Tapped

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—The "revenooers" are applying pressure on grocers in the continuing war on moonshiners. Moonshiners use large quantities of sugar, and heretofore the grocers were asked to "sell and tell." Now, says G. C. Kirkpatrick, supervisor in West Virginia for the Treasury Dept.'s Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, they're being directed—no merely asked—to keep accurate records of sugar sales, on threat of criminal prosecution for failure to do so.

Child--No, I'm writing a letter to myself.

Mother--Well, that's mighty interesting. What are you going to write, yourself?

Child--How should I know? I haven't received it yet.

Notice is hereby given that the Assessor of the City of Kingston has completed his School Assessment Roll for the school year 1957-1958. That a copy thereof has been left at his office in the City Hall where it may be seen and examined by any person until the THIRTH THURSDAY OF MAY next, and that on such day at nine o'clock in the forenoon said Assessor will attend at the City Hall in said City to hear and examine all complaints in relation to such assessments as provided by Section 32-A of the City Charter as amended.

GEORGE W. MOORE
City Assessor
Dated: April 30th, 1957.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the ordinance published herewith has been adopted by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on the 7th day of May, 1957, and the validity of the ordinance authorized by such ordinance may be hereafter contested only if such contesting is made by a petition or proceeding filed with the City Clerk within ten days after the date of publication of this notice, or such contesting is authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Dated: Kingston, New York, May 7, 1957.

BERNHARDT S. KRAMER

City Clerk
DATED MAY 7, 1957

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE CONSTRUCTION AND RECONSTRUCTION OF PUBLIC STREETS IN THE CITY OF KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AT A TOTAL ESTIMATED COST OF $100,000.00, AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $95,000.00 SERIAL BONDS OF SAID CITY AND THE ISSUANCE OF $5,000.00 CAPITAL NOTES OF SAID CITY TO PAY THE COST THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED, by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. The construction and reconstruction of public streets in the City of Kingston, New York, is hereby authorized, at a total estimated cost of $100,000.00.

Section 2. The plan of financing such object or purpose is as follows:

a) From the issuance of $5,000.00 capital notes of said City, which are hereby authorized to be issued, and the details and sale of said capital notes are hereby delegated to the City Treasurer of said City of Kingston, New York, in conformity with law; and

b) From the issuance of $95,000.00 serial bonds of said City, hereinafter authorized.

Section 3. To pay part of the cost of the aforesaid object or purpose, there are hereby authorized to be issued $95,000.00 serial bonds of said City, pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 4. The faith and credit of said City of Kingston, New York, are hereby pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on such obligations in the same manner, and at the same time, as the principal of and interest on such obligations becoming due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such obligations becoming due and payable in such year.

Section 5. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, the City of Kingston, New York, is authorized to sell bonds or notes to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the City Treasurer, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said City Treasurer consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 6. It is hereby determined that subdivision 20 of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law applies to the aforesaid object or purpose, and that the period of probable usefulness thereof is ten years.

Section 7. It is hereby further determined that said bonds will mature over a period in excess of five years.

Section 8. The aforesaid capital notes, in the principal amount of $5,000.00 will be issued and sold prior to the issuance of such bonds or bond anticipation notes.

Section 9. The validity of such obligations may be contested only if:

1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said City of Kingston is not authorized to expend money; or

2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this ordinance are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication; or

3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 10. This ordinance, which takes effect immediately, shall be published in full, after approval by the Mayor, in THE KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN and in the KINGSTON ULSTER PRESS, the official newspapers of said City, together with a certificate of substantial conformity with Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

To Bless Home For Incurable Cancer Patients

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, will bless and dedicate the new $1,600,000 St. Rose's Home, 100 bed hospital for destitute and incurable cancer patients at 71 Jackson street, Manhattan, on Saturday, May 18, at 3:30 p. m. The hospital will provide free care for poor persons of all races and creeds who have exhausted all medical treatment for cancer and require nursing care during the terminal stage of their illness.

The new six-story red brick structure has been raised on the same site as the original St. Rose's Home erected in 1912 by Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, youngest daughter of Nathaniel Hawthorne, the American novelist. Known in the religious life as Mother Alphonsa, Mrs. Lathrop, a widow and a convert, in 1894 gave up a promising social and literary career to dedicate her life to the cancerous poor. The new building will house 20 Dominican Sisters of St. Rose of Lima, Servants of Relief for Incurable Cancer Among the Poor, the religious order of women founded by Mrs. Lathrop in 1899.

Mrs. Lathrop began her work in three small rooms of a slum tenement on Scammel street. At that time neither the community nor private charity was equipped to care for incurable cancer patients and frequently they died in squalor and neglect. Their families, fearing the disease was communicable, refused to live with them. Later when the Scammel street tenement was torn down, Mrs. Lathrop moved to 666 Water street, where she continued her work of mercy.

Bridges Favors $3.3 Billion Cut In Ike's Budget

Atlantic City, N. J., May 11 (AP)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) today proposed at least a 3.3 billion dollar slice in President Eisenhower's budget. This, he said, will allow a "modest" tax cut next January 1.

Bridges, a member and former chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, said the United States has reached the saturation point on government spending.

Limit Reached

"There is a limit," he said, "beyond which even a country as great and strong and as rich as ours can go—and I believe we have reached it."

In an address prepared for delivery to the 63rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers Assn., Bridges said cuts could be made in these areas of the President's 71.8 billion dollar budget.

500 million dollars from the 5.8 billion dollars requested for the Soil Bank, Commodity Credit Corp., Agriculture Conservation program and grants to states for public assistance.

575 million dollars by cutting the public works program back to its 1955 level.

750 million dollars in military items. "I yield to no one in concern for a strong defense, but in a budget of 38 billion dollars, I am positive we can make a saving of 750 million," he said.

Dag Leaves for Paris

Jerusalem, May 11 (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld left by plane today for Paris and New York after two days of talks with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and other Israeli government chiefs. During the meetings, Ben-Gurion asked Hammarskjöld to seek from Egypt an end to that country's state of belligerency against Israel. He also raised the question of Egypt's ban on Israeli use of the Suez Canal.

Seek Saugerties Parade Entries For July Fourth

An urgent request that participating organizations in the annual Fourth of July parade in Saugerties return replies was made at a meeting of the parade committee of Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday night, according to Walter Stapleton, chairman.

Mr. Stapleton pointed out that floats and marching units will be placed in the parade on the basis of when entries are received.

First Float Entered

The Sunday school float of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties was the first to reply and won the honor of being the leading float.

Marching units confirmed to date and listed in order of appearance are Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Post 130, VFW; St. Mary's Camp Fire Girls; Lamouree-Hackett Post 72; American Legion; Singing Blue Birds of St. Mary's Church and the C. A. Lynch Fire Company.

The C. A. Lynch Fire Company announced that it will furnish a musical marching unit at its own expense.

A $75 first prize and a trophy is being offered to the float judged the best in the parade. Second prize is $50 and third, $25. The trophy will be awarded each year until an organization retains permanent possession by winning it three consecutive years.

To Offer Trophies

Trophies will also be awarded to the best adult marching and best junior marching units in the parade.

Each float entered will also receive $10 to help defray the expense of construction. Prizes will be awarded for originality, appropriateness and appearance. All entries should comply with the parade theme, "The American Heritage," Mr. Stapleton said.

The Fourth of July program will include a giant fireworks display in the evening at Cantine Memorial Field and the award of a $1,000 Savings Bond. The new Miss Saugerties to be designated at the coronation ball at the Flamingo Restaurant May 29, will make her first public appearance in an open car through arrangement with Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce. A car with Chamber members will also parade.

Fatality Identified

Lakewood, N. J., May 11 (AP)—A 19-year-old sailor killed in a Thursday night auto accident near Jackson township, has been identified as Anthony J. Valforte of Wantagh, N. Y. Police said. Valforte died when the car missed a curve and struck a tree. Five other passengers in the car were injured.

Pact Is Reached In Battle for Control of Firm

Chicago, May 11 (AP)—The business battle of the year—the bitter fight for control of Fairbanks, Morse & Co.—ended yesterday with a five-year agreement between the company and Penn-Texas Corp.

The pact was signed by leaders of the opposing factions, Leopold D. Silberstein, head of Penn-Texas, and Robert H. Morse Jr., president of the 127-year-old heavy equipment firm.

Started in 1956

The signing ended a business tug-of-war that began in January 1956 when Silberstein announced his plan to take over Fairbanks Morse in a proxy contest.

Silberstein and Morse summed up the end of their free-swinging fight with this joint statement: "We are both pleased that our differences have been amicably settled and we can concentrate now on the continued growth of Fairbanks Morse to the benefit of our customers, our stockholders and our employees."

Five Seats Each

The agreement contains these terms: Each side will have five seats on Fairbanks Morse 11-member board of directors.

The 11th member was mutually agreed on.

Morse continues as head of the firm.

Silberstein will discontinue attempts to control Fairbanks Morse.

Morse will not participate in proxy contests now underway in Penn-Texas Corp. Morse has been buying stock in Silberstein's industrial combine to counter Silberstein's bid for control in Fairbanks Morse.

The theme of the 1957 "Sawyer" school-community relations, is carried out through a number of interesting photographs of the Hudson River, Catskill Mountains, Seamon Park, Cantine Memorial Field, industrial concerns, church spires, adult education classes, and scenes around school.

The school colors, blue and white, are used for the cover. The first 16 pages of the book will be printed in light blue color.

The book includes pictures and write-ups concerning the clubs, classes, musical organizations, athletic groups, and special events. Special lay-outs have been used for certain pages.

The book will be ready for distribution about the middle of June but copies of the book should be ordered. The last few years the sale of the yearbook has had to be discontinued because the demand exceeded the supply.

Rail Service Disrupted

Tokyo, May 11 (AP)—Railway service was disrupted throughout Japan today as an estimated one million workers staged rallies and demonstrations and sat down on tracks. No major violence was reported. Rail union members were called out for two days of demonstrations against the government firing of 23 employees and the suspension, fining or reprimanding of 856 others for leading wildcat strikes in March. The government action was aimed at workers on the government-owned railways who are forbidden to strike, but who left their jobs during working hours to attend "workshop rallies" to back up demands for wage increases.

The school colors, blue and white, are used for the cover. The first 16 pages of the book will be printed in light blue color.

55 Albany PO Workers Laid Off

Albany, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Fifty-five employees of the Albany Post Office were laid off today because of an economy move.

Postmaster Henry A. Goetz laid off the workers yesterday after receiving an order from the Post Office Department's Regional Office in New York City to cut costs.

Some of the workers furloughed had civil service status, Goetz said. They had been employed on an average of nine months as substitute carriers and substitute clerks.

The postmaster said he did not know whether the layoffs would result in curtailment of service.

Simpson Would Cut Taxes Now

Stevens Point, Wis., May 11 (AP)—Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R.-Pa.) said today "the way to cut taxes is to cut them now."

In a speech prepared for the Wisconsin State Young Republican Convention, Simpson added that taxes should be lowered and expenditures cut accordingly.

"If we wait for a substantial surplus before we cut taxes," he said, "pressures for additional spending may build up to deny us the tax cut."

Asks GOP Congress

Simpson, chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee, told the party group to "go out and wage fighting campaigns to elect another Republican to succeed Joe McCarthy and to capture control of Congress in 1958."

Sen. McCarthy died last week of a liver ailment.

Simpson said he and other members of Congress have received a "huge flood of mail" demanding government economy and taxes reduction.

"The long-suffering American taxpayer deserves a measure of relief from his burdens," he added.

Discusses Economy

Simpson also discussed government economy in a speech prepared for the state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Republican Women. This convention is being held at Wisconsin Rapids.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the inflation that robs our people of their hard-earned dollars goes hand in hand with excessive government spending. We must bring these expenses down, and return to the people the money which is rightfully theirs."

Egg-Size Hail Rips W. Texas

Dallas, May 11 (AP)—Hail the size of hen eggs piled up 12 inches deep on highways in western Texas last night as almost four inches of rain fell in some areas causing flash floods.

Telephone lines were struck by lightning and winds of 80 miles an hour left many towns without communications for hours.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of the grain crop in the Norton area of west Texas was ruined by hail, according to Dave Compton, a resident of the area.

Crest Due Monday

The highest flood crest in the recorded history of the Trinity river moved down on the town of Liberty last night. Liberty is about 40 miles northeast of Houston in south Texas. The river reached 29.08 feet and was expected to crest at 29.50 feet Monday. The all-time record of 29.38 was registered in 1952.

About 22 homes in Liberty were threatened by flood waters. Some 500 persons were isolated by flooded roads in a south Liberty oil and fishing camp. They went about their business in boats. Most of the residents gathered on higher ground.

Piled on Highway

Sheriff Herman Richter of Del Rio, in southwest Texas along the Texas-Mexico border, said he was forced to turn around during his trip to Comstock and Langtry, north of Del Rio, when he ran into hail piled up 8 to 12 inches deep on the highway. There was an unconfirmed report of hail five inches in diameter at Langtry.

Kingston Seniors Named Scholastic Exhibit Winners

Two Kingston High School seniors were named winners in the 1957 National High School Art Exhibition at Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., it was announced today by M. Clifford Miller, principal.

They are: James Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Flynn of 42 Adams street and Edward V. Leware, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Leware of 422 Foxhall avenue.

Fashion Design Winner

James Flynn was named the winner of a $25 award in fashion design and Edward Leware was awarded a scholarship to Silvermine Guild School of Art, New Haven, Conn.

Extending from May 10 through June 2, the exhibition is the climax of the 1957 Scholastic Art Awards school-year program, with preliminary regional exhibitions held in 35 areas earlier this year. Forwarded to Pittsburgh for national judging by a group of 32 art experts and educators were those pieces which had been awarded gold achievement keys by regional juries.

For areas where there were no regional shows, entries were screened in Pittsburgh by a preliminary jury, who followed the same high standards as the regional juries in selecting the work for the final judges.

Awards Total $20,000

The 530 outstanding pieces in the national show received cash awards totaling $20,000, donated chiefly by leading concerns in the art industry who served as national co-sponsors with Scholastic Magazines. Topping the awards this year were the 40 coveted Hallmark Honor Prizes of $100 each for the best work in pictorial art. In addition, 100 seniors won tuition scholarships on the basis of their submitted portfolios, and a certificate of merit went to each student placing in the show.

Students submitted about 175,000 entries for Scholastic Art Awards this year from all 48 states and territories. About 35,000 pieces won places in regional exhibitions. Of these, 1,400 entries have won places in the national show, representing 26 classifications in pictorial art, graphic art, commercial art, design, sculpture, and crafts.

3 Children Die In Philly Blaze

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Three children, two brothers and their sister were killed by smoke today as flames swept through their north Philadelphia home.

The victims were Joseph Gayton, eight, his five-year-old brother Patrick, and their sister, Priscilla, four.

Their father, Joseph, 30, returning home from work at the height of the early morning blaze, was cut on the hands as he tried to smash his way into the flaming house to reach his family.

The children's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gayton, 23, and four other children were rescued.

Saved from the blaze in addition to Mrs. Gayton were her two other children, John, nine months, and Hugh, nine. Also in the house at the time were Joseph Law, 15, a ward of the Catholic Children's Bureau who had been living with the Gaytons at 803 Wellens avenue in the Olney section of the city, and his sister, Viola, 17, also a ward.

Matusow Prison Term Is Upheld

New York, May 11 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals has upheld the perjury conviction and five-year prison sentence of Harvey Matusow, admitted former Communist.

Matusow, 28, was convicted Sept. 26, 1956, on five counts of perjury in swearing that Roy M. Cohn, while an assistant U. S. attorney, had coached him to give false testimony in the trial of 13 second-string Communists.

Turnabout Witness

Matusow, who became known as a "turnabout" witness, once termed himself a "vicious liar" and said he had denounced 244 Americans as Reds or Communist sympathizers without a shred of evidence.

In appealing his perjury conviction, Matusow claimed he was deprived of a fair trial because the Communist issue was injected into the case.

In a unanimous decision yesterday, the Appeals Court turned down Matusow's plea.

Matusow, who has been living in New York, is free in $10,000 bail.

Man Blames Marital Troubles, Slays Trio

Houston, Tex., May 11 (AP)—A tavern operator who said he had "family troubles" picked up a .22 caliber rifle yesterday and shot three women to death and injured another man before he was captured by police.

Tommie Heads Jr., 36, killed his wife, Florence, about 30, Mrs. Emily Jacquette, 70, and Mrs. Priscilla Babin, 40. Heads wounded Mrs. Jacquette's husband, Taylor, 77, in the head and arm. Heads and the people he shot are Negroes.

Heads was picked up on a street corner after the shooting. He apparently was on his way to his mother's home. Officers said he still had his rifle with him, which was loaded.

Officers said witnesses told them Heads shot his wife, then went out the back door of his home into the Jacquette home, directly behind his own.

Adenauer Splits With U. S., Asks Test Suspension

Bonn, Germany, May 11 (AP)—West Germany's lower house has called on the atomic powers to suspend nuclear arms tests for a "limited time" as a pledge of their intent to achieve "a general controlled disarmament."

The resolution, presented last night by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats, marked one of the few times the West German leader has differed with President Eisenhower on a major international issue. Eisenhower has contended the tests must go on as long as Russia refuses to agree to international inspection.

Adenauer told the deputies he still shared the American view that the prime way to achieve peace was through general controlled disarmament.

His proposal declared that the United States, Britain and Russia should suspend the tests to demonstrate their "will to achieve a general controlled disarmament." It gave no time limit for the suspension.

The opposition Socialists opposed the measure on grounds it was not strong enough. The Socialists tried unsuccessfully to get through a resolution saying all nuclear arms tests should be stopped immediately.

Woman Hurt Fatally

Westfield, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Mrs. Betty Miller, 27, mother of three children, was injured fatally early today when a panel truck driven by her husband, David, 29, left the highway and struck a tree in this western New York village. Miller was not injured seriously.

Seek Saugerties Parade Entries For July Fourth

An urgent request that participating organizations in the annual Fourth of July parade in Saugerties return replies was made at a meeting of the parade committee of Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday night, according to Walter Stapleton, chairman.

Mr. Stapleton pointed out that floats and marching units will be placed in the parade on the basis of when entries are received.

First Float Entered

The Sunday school float of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties was the first to reply and won the honor of being the leading float.

Marching units confirmed to date and listed in order of appearance are Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Post 130, VFW; St. Mary's Camp Fire Girls; Lamourie-Hackett Post 72, American Legion; Singing Blue Birds of St. Mary's Church and the C. A. Lynch Fire Company.

The C. A. Lynch Fire Company announced that it will furnish a musical marching unit at its own expense.

A $75 first prize and a trophy is being offered to the float judged the best in the parade. Second prize is $50 and third, $25. The trophy will be awarded each year until an organization retains permanent possession by winning it three consecutive years.

To Offer Trophies

Trophies will also be awarded to the best adult marching and best junior marching units in the parade.

Each float entered will also receive $10 to help defray the expense of construction. Prizes will be awarded for originality, appropriateness and appearance.

All entries should comply with the parade theme, "The American Heritage," Mr. Stapleton said.

The Fourth of July program will include a giant fireworks display in the evening at Cantine Memorial Field and the award of a $1,000 Savings Bond.

The new Miss Saugerties to be designated at the coronation ball at the Flamingo Restaurant May 29, will make her first public appearance in an open car through arrangement with Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce. A car with Chamber members will also parade.

Pact Is Reached In Battle for Control of Firm

Chicago, May 11 (AP)—The business battle of the year—the bitter fight for control of Fairbanks, Morse & Co.—ended yesterday with a five-year agreement between the company and Penn-Texas Corp.

The pact was signed by leaders of the opposing factions, Leopold D. Silberstein, head of Penn-Texas, and Robert H. Morse Jr., president of the 127-year-old heavy equipment firm.

Started in 1956

The signing ended a business tug-of-war that began in January 1956 when Silberstein announced his plan to take over Fairbanks Morse in a proxy contest.

Silberstein and Morse summed up the end of their free-swinging fight with this joint statement: "We are both pleased that our differences have been amicably settled and we can concentrate now on the continued growth of Fairbanks Morse to the benefit of our customers, our stockholders and our employees."

Five Seats Each

The agreement contains these terms:

Each side will have five seats on Fairbanks Morse 11-member board of directors.

The 11th member was mutually agreed on.

Morse continues as head of the firm.

Silberstein will discontinue attempts to control Fairbanks Morse.

Morse will not participate in proxy contests now underway in Penn-Texas Corp. Morse has been buying stock in Silberstein's industrial combine to counter Silberstein's bid for control in Fairbanks Morse.

Taking Orders For Saugerties Sawyer Yearbook

The 1957 "Sawyer", Saugerties High School yearbook, is now on sale and may be purchased from any one of a number of salesmen in grades seven through twelve.

The theme of the 1957 "Sawyer", school-community relationships, is carried out through a number of interesting photographs of the Hudson River, Catskill Mountains, Seamon Park, Cantine Memorial Field, industrial concerns, church spires, adult education classes, and scenes around school.

The school colors, blue and white, are used for the cover. The first 16 pages of the book will be printed in light blue color.

The book includes pictures and write-ups concerning the clubs, classes, musical organizations, athletic groups, and special events. Special lay-outs have been used for certain pages.

The book will be ready for distribution about the middle of June but copies of the book should be ordered. The last few years the sale of the yearbook has had to be discontinued because the demand exceeded the supply.

55 Albany PO Workers Laid Off

Albany, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Fifty-five employees of the Albany Post Office were laid off today because of an economy move.

Postmaster Henry A. Goetz laid off the workers yesterday after receiving an order from the Post Office Department's Regional Office in New York City to cut costs.

None of the workers furnished had civil service status, Goetz said. They had been employed on an average of nine months as substitute carriers and substitute clerks.

The postmaster said he did not know whether the layoffs would result in curtailment of service.

Simpson Would Cut Taxes Now

Stevens Point, Wis., May 11 (AP)—Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said today "the way to cut taxes is to cut them now."

In a speech prepared for the Wisconsin State Young Republican Convention, Simpson added that taxes should be lowered and expenditures cut accordingly.

"If we wait for a substantial surplus before we cut taxes," he said, "pressures for additional spending may build up to deny us the tax cut."

Simpson also discussed government economy in a speech prepared for the state convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Republican Women. This convention is being held at Wisconsin Rapids.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the inflation that robs our people of their hard-earned dollars goes hand in hand with excessive government spending."

"We must bring these expenses down, and return to the people the money which is rightfully theirs."

Egg-Size Hail Rips W. Texas

Dallas, May 11 (AP)—Hail the size of hen eggs piled up 12 inches deep on highways in western Texas last night as almost four inches of rain fell in some areas causing flash floods.

Telephone lines were struck by lightning and winds of 80 miles an hour left many towns without communications for hours.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of the grain crop in the Norton area of west Texas was ruined by hail, according to Dave Compton, a resident of the area.

Crest Due Monday

The highest flood crest in the recorded history of the Trinity river moved down on the town of Liberty last night. Liberty is about 40 miles northeast of Houston in south Texas. The river reached 29.08 feet and was expected to crest at 29.50 feet Monday. The all-time record of 29.38 was registered in 1952.

About 22 homes in Liberty were threatened by flood waters. Some 500 persons were isolated by flooded roads in a south Liberty oil and fishing camp. They went about their business in boats. Most of the residents gathered on higher ground.

Diem Convinced Talks Success; Ends State Visit

Washington, May 11 (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam brought his four-day state visit to a close today, convinced that his mission here has been a success.

A joint statement by President Eisenhower and the southeast Asian leader was due to be issued by the White House later today (7 p. m. EDT). It will sum up the talks between the two presidents and top aides.

Eisenhower took leave of Diem last night.

"We are glad to have you here and I hope you enjoy every minute of your stay in the United States," Eisenhower said as he left a formal dinner in his honor given by Diem at the Viet Nam embassy.

Eisenhower leaves today for a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm with his wartime comrade, British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Kingston Seniors Named Scholastic Exhibit Winners

Two Kingston High School seniors were named winners in the 1957 National High School Art Exhibition at Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., it was announced today by M. Clifford Miller, principal.

They are: James Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Flynn of 42 Adams street and Edward V. Leware, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Leware of 422 Foxhall avenue.

Fashion Design Winner

James Flynn was named the winner of a $25 award in fashion design and Edward Leware was awarded a scholarship to Silvermine Guild School of Art, New Haven, Conn.

Extending from May 10 through June 2, the exhibition is the climax of the 1957 Scholastic Art Awards school-year program, with preliminary regional exhibitions held in 35 areas earlier this year. Forwarded to Pittsburgh for national judging by a group of 32 art experts and educators were those pieces which had been awarded gold achievement keys by regional juries.

For areas where there were no regional shows, entries were screened in Pittsburgh by a preliminary jury, who followed the same high standards as the regional juries in selecting the work for the final judging.

Awards Total $20,000

The 530 outstanding pieces in the national show received cash awards totaling $20,000, donated chiefly by leading concerns in the art industry who served as national co-sponsors with Scholastic Magazines. Topping the awards this year were the 40 coveted Hallmark Honor Prizes of $100 each for the best work in pictorial art. In addition, 100 seniors won tuition scholarships on the basis of their submitted portfolios, and a certificate of merit went to each student placing in the show.

Students submitted about 175,000 entries for Scholastic Art Awards this year from all 48 states and territories. About 35,000 pieces won places in regional exhibitions. Of these, 1,400 entries have won places in the national show, representing 26 classifications in pictorial art, graphic art, commercial art, design, sculpture, and crafts.

3 Children Die In Philly Blaze

Philadelphia, May 11 (AP)—Three children, two brothers and their sister were killed by smoke today as flames swept through their north Philadelphia home.

The victims were Joseph Gayton, eight, his five-year-old brother Patrick, and their sister, Priscilla, four.

Their father, Joseph, 30, returning home from work at the height of the early morning blaze, was cut on the hands as he tried to smash his way into the flaming house to reach his family.

The children's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gayton, 23, and four other children were rescued.

Saved from the blaze in addition to Mrs. Gayton were her two other children, John, nine months, and Hugh, nine. Also in the house at the time were Joseph Law, 15, a ward of the Catholic Children's Bureau who had been living with the Gaytons at 803 Wellens avenue in the Olney section of the city, and his sister, Viola, 17, also a ward.

Matusow Prison Term Is Upheld

New York, May 11 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals has upheld the perjury conviction and five-year prison sentence of Harvey Matusow, admitted former Communist.

Matusow, 28, was convicted Sept. 26, 1956, on five counts of perjury in swearing that Roy M. Cohn, while an assistant U. S. attorney, had coached him to give false testimony in the trial of 13 second-string Communists.

Turnabout Witness

Matusow, who became known as a "turnabout" witness, once termed himself a "vicious liar" and said he had denounced 244 Americans as Reds or Communist sympathizers without a shred of evidence.

In appealing his perjury conviction, Matusow claimed he was deprived of a fair trial because the Communist issue was injected into the case.

In a unanimous decision yesterday, the Appeals Court turned down Matusow's plea.

Matusow, who has been living in New York, is free in $10,000 bail.

Man Blames Marital Troubles, Slays Trio

Houston, Tex., May 11 (AP)—A tavern operator who said he had "family troubles" picked up a .22 caliber rifle yesterday and shot three women to death and injured another man before he was captured by police.

Tommie Heads Jr., 36, killed his wife, Florence, about 30. Mrs. Emily Jacquette, 70, and Mrs. Priscilla Babin, 40. Heads wounded Mrs. Jacquette's husband, Taylor, 77, in the head and arm. Heads and the people he shot are Negroes.

Adenauer Splits With U. S., Asks Test Suspension

Bonn, Germany, May 11 (AP)—West Germany's lower house has called on the atomic powers to suspend nuclear arms tests for a "limited time" as a pledge of their intent to achieve "a general controlled disarmament."

The resolution, presented last night by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats, marked one of the few times the West German leader has differed with President Eisenhower on a major international issue. Eisenhower has contended the tests must go on as long as Russia refuses to agree to international inspection.

Adenauer told the deputies he still shared the American view that the prime way to achieve peace was through general controlled disarmament.

His proposal declared that the United States, Britain and Russia should suspend the tests to demonstrate their "will to achieve a general controlled disarmament."

It gave no time limit for the suspension.

The opposition Socialists opposed the measure on grounds it was not strong enough. The Socialists tried unsuccessfully to get through a resolution saying all nuclear arms tests should be stopped immediately.

Woman Hurt Fatally

Westfield, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Mrs. Betty Miller, 27, mother of three children, was injured fatally early today when a panel truck driven by her husband, David, 29, left the highway and struck a tree in this western New York village. Miller was not injured seriously.
